PUBLIC GARDEN NOT SACRED, SAYS CURLEY

"The Public Garden is not sacred ground, nor is it hallowed by the memory of any historic event. At the time when it is most beautiful, surrounding dwellings are deserted. I see no objection to establishing a new Public Garden in a territory where more people could enjoy it." James M. Curley, Mayor-elect of Boston, in Washington today.

New Haven "Underground" Paid Smoke Watcher

BARRON ON STAND IN PROBE

The Public Service Commission today resumed its inquiry into the New Haven's "Underground Fund"; and at the crowded hearing at No. 20 Beacon street, Henry H. Wilson, a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and C. W. Barron of the Boston News Bureau were witnessed.

Wilson told of receiving sums totalling several hundred dollars for inspecting smoke between the Trinity Place station and the baseball park. The work was given him, he said, by Timothy E. Byrnes, then vice-president of the New Haven.

He said:

"The Brotherhood appointed me to several committees. Among others, I was chairman of the legislative committee in 1911, '12 and '13."

Arthur Dehon Hill showed him a $250 voucher.

"That was paid me for investigating the smoke from locomotives between Trinity Place station and the 'I ill park," he explained. "I used a Ringlement chart and made reports to Mr. Byrnes."

Q.—Did your organization know of this work? A.—Without doubt, I know, and I don't care. I made no attempt to conceal it.

ACKNOWLEDGED VOUCHERS.

He acknowledged other vouchers for $500 and $360 for similar work.

Then Mr. Barron of the News Bureau took the stand and there opened a lively battle of words between him and Mr. Hill.

Sheets were first submitted showing the amount of advertising Mr. Barron placed in various papers for the New Haven. Then Mr. Barron explained that he was paid for mailing 180,000 copies of the News Bureau publication to stockholders in the New Haven and others.

Q.—What was the purpose of this campaign? A.—To correct newspaper misstatements.

Q.—How did you happen to get the work? A.—Sometimes they offered. Sometimes I asked for it.

Q.—What were the nature of your articles in these papers? A.—A sort of railroad vivisection—an analysis of the New Haven and Boston & Maine systems. Their object was to enlighten the public.

Q.—Any other purpose? A.—To counteract the "Campaign of Calumny" against the New Haven. I devoted from one to two columns a day to the New Haven.

REFERS TO BRANDEIS.

Q.—A defense of the New Haven? A.—No—statements of fact. There are not two sides to a fact. The attacks were hurting New England industries. I knew they were injurious because Mr. Brandeis was behind them.

Q.—You devoted quite a little space to Mr. Brandeis? Nine columns? A.—Was that all? I didn't count them.

Q.—And there were twenty-two of these attacks? A.—I wouldn't call them attacks. Refutations, rather. I will devote as much space to Mr. Brandeis in the future as in the past if he continues his attacks.

Q.—You devoted some 2,234 inches, or over 110 newspaper columns, to New Haven matters in a short period. Did you not? A.—Doubtless. Glaring headlines were misinforming the public, and passengers were being frightened away by heartless caricatures and criticisms.

JUST LIKE A WOMAN, SAID "NO," NOW ADMITS THAT SHE MEANT "YES"

MISS DAI TURGEON

One week from tomorrow Charles Belmont Davis, brother of Richard Harding Davis, who married Bessie McCoy, the actress, and himself an author, will be married in St. James Church, London, to Miss Dai Turgeon, the winsome American actress who vehemently denied only last September that she cared anything about Charles Belmont Davis at all. He will be forty-eight years old on his wedding day.

Theatregoers familiar with the piquant prettiness of Dai Turgeon will envy Mr. Davis his charming bride. She is the daughter of Charles Edward Turgeon of Hinsdale, a Chicago suburb. The family is of old French-Canadian descent and moved down from Ottawa to Illinois a few years ago.

Miss Turgeon's last engagement—just prior to her present engagement to the fortunate Mr. Davis—was with "The Girl from Montmartre." When this company was playing in New York Mr. Davis was such a constant patron and danced such regular attendance on Miss Turgeon that reporters asked if they were in love.

Prompt answer from the lady: "No."

But, when Miss Turgeon resigned in September and went to London Mr. Davis quit caring at all for "The Girl from Montmartre." A month ago he crossed to London. And now the announcement is made of the coming wedding.

The honeymoon plans call for a visit to Italy. Mr. Davis was United States Consul at Florence from 1892 to 1897, so he will be reviewing, under most delightful circumstances, scenes of his former consular work.

Later the couple will return to this country to live. Mr. Davis's present home is New York city. He is a native of Philadelphia and a graduate of Lehigh University, class of 1887. He is two years younger than his brother.

POPE PIUS FORBIDS THE TANGO

ROME, Jan. 16.—The Pope has placed the ban of the Roman Catholic Church upon the dancing of the tango as "pagan immorality."

The announcement of the Pontifical judgment is made in a message from Cardinal Basilio Pompili, vicar-general of Rome, to the priests of the diocese of Rome. It is published in last night's issue of the Observatore Romano, the official organ of the Vatican. Cardinal Pompili was to attracted several days ago to examine into the social influence of the dances and make report to the Pontiff.

It is probably the first time in History that a Pope has condemned a dance. The news of the edict is flashed throughout the world and is certain to result in the abandonment in almost all Catholic circles of the dance that is pronounced a menace.

The Cardinal's letter is in part as follows:

"I learn with the greatest sorrow of the efforts to introduce here the dances imported from overseas, which, in music and facts, greatly outrages modesty and which has been condemned by many illustrious bishops even of the Protestant countries.

"It is necessary for all who have in their duty the care of souls to rise to the defence of the saints of Christian manners, and to insist to preserve the faithful from the dangers threatened by the new pagan immorality.

"The people must be made to see the grave offence they do unto God —the irreparable harm to society— by participation in spectacles which incite to looseness of morals.

"You must point out that all willing themselves Christians must avoid everything offensive to morals either by dress, in fashion or the theatres they attend.

"Parents, particularly, must warn children and protect them from these evils. Otherwise they will be guilty before God of neglecting their most sacred duty.

"The tango must be absolutely prohibited in the seat of the Roman Pontiff, the centre of the Roman Catholic religion."

Plan Suffrage Restaurant Here

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, who will preside at a big public meeting of the Boston Equal Suffrage Association for Good Government at Tremont Temple Saturday evening, January 24, plans during her stay in Boston to consult with suffrage leaders as to the possibility of establishing a "suffrage restaurant" here, upon the model of her New York enterprise, Wealthy Back Bay women will be asked to help finance the proposition.

CURLEY INSISTS ON SALE

Mayor-elect James M. Curley's proposal to sell the Public Garden and apply the proceeds to reducing the municipal debt is no joke. It is a serious proposition, on the authority of the Mayor-elect himself.

He believes, according to Washington dispatches, that the majority of the people of Boston would vote for a proposition to sell the Garden, thus reducing the tax rate in the city, instead of increasing it, as is proposed in a bill Mayor Fitzgerald has introduced in the Legislature.

"The Public Garden is not sacred ground," said the Congressman, "nor is it hallowed by the memory of any historic event. At the time when it is most beautiful, surrounding dwellings are deserted. I see no objection to placing the Public Garden in a territory where more people could enjoy it. I have nothing further to say relative to the sale of the Garden now, but I will have a great deal to say at the proper time."

As far as Mayor Fitzgerald's declaration that the proposal is "ridiculous" is concerned, Mayor-elect Curley had this to say:

"I am not interested in anything Mayor Fitzgerald may say relative to matters which will be handled during my administration. After February 2 I will be the Mayor of Boston, and Mr. Fitzgerald will be a private citizen."

One suggestion was that Mayor Fitzgerald may be a candidate for Congress to succeed Mr. Curley, but to show the new Mayor that he is not the only candidate in the political milieu.

TO HOLD BOTH OFFICES?

Congressman Curley jokingly declared in Washington yesterday that he might hold on to both jobs—the Congressional and Mayor of the same time. But his friends expect him to resign his seat in Congress on the day before his inauguration as Mayor. What Mr. Curley said to the suggestion of the Mayor's candidacy was:

"I wonder is that a threat or a promise? Maybe I'll serve out my term as Congressman. There are several instances of Congressmen who held the office of Mayor and Congressman at the same time."

The Public Garden sale-proposition aroused tremendous interest, both in Boston and in Washington. Ex-Mayor Thomas N. Hart commented:

"If ever there was a fool proposition made by anybody it is this one to sell the Public Garden. I don't believe Mr. Curley could get the votes in this city to support him in any such proposition. Furthermore, perhaps he doesn't know that the Garden never can be sold except by consent of the Legislature.

"The Public Garden affords more enjoyment for all of the people than any twenty-four acres of ground in Massachusetts. It was the first piece of public property the city of Boston

NEW BRAIN TWISTER

Answer Early, Avoid the Rush

REALLY IT'S TOO EASY

Attention, you puzzle solvers! Here's another one of those brain teasers for you.

A messenger leaves the rear of an army twenty-eight miles long as it begins its day's march.

He goes to the front and at once returns, reaching the rear when the army camps for the night.

How far did he travel, if the army marched twenty-eight miles during the day?

ARREST REVERE ASSESSOR

ARREST BATES ON REVERE TAX FRAUD CHARGE

Charles H. Bates, a Revere assessor, was arrested today on two indictments returned by the Suffolk Grand Jury, charging forgery of public records and uttering abatements on property illegally. In the Suffolk Police Court he pleaded not guilty and was held in $1,000 for trial at a later date.

Charges were made to District Attorney Pelletier and his assistant, Thomas D. Lavelle, that the town of Revere was being looted of thousands of dollars. A committee of Revere citizens preferred the charges, which were placed before the Grand Jury on last Tuesday.

All the books that contained records of abatements were seized at Mr. Bates's office. These were examined by the Grand Jury. It is said that statements were made on several occasions of property which recalled a loss of $12,000 to the town on February 7s 1911. It was charged before the Grand Jury that these abatements were made for the purpose of influencing the election of said man as town assessor, and candidate for various elective offices in the town.

The two indictments contained seventy-five counts in all. The indictments charging forgery of public records contained four counts. The other 71 illegal abatements contained seventy-one counts.

Mrs. Gladys B. Hamilton, a clerk in the assessors' office, who was instrumental in discovering the alleged irregularities in the town books during the regime of Samuel A. Bates, who was recently sentenced for wrongdoing in connection with the books of his department, was again on the job in this case. She assisted the investigators in a perusal of the records which brought to light the $12,000 abatements in one day. She also testified before the Grand Jury. A summons will be issued calling on her to testify at the trial of Bates.

Col. Goethals to Be Canal Governor

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Colonel George W. Goethals is to be permanent Governor of the Panama Canal Zone. This was learned on high authority today. He has won his fight to keep the control of politics and will have almost autocratic power in the administration of Zone affairs, which surrounds the operating force.

Dania Reports She Will Be in Today

HAVANA, Jan. 16.—The Hamburg-American liner Dania, four days overdue after which there has been much anxiety, reported by wireless today that she would reach here this afternoon. The steamer was greatly delayed by storms.

Delegation Urges Supply Ship Here

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Senators Weeks and Lodge and the entire delegation from Massachusetts will confer with secretary of the Navy Daniels late today in an effort to have him award the contract for the new naval supply ship to the Charlestown Navy Yard. The Charlestown yard is the lowest bidder, but the secretary is doubtful whether they can have the facilities and equipment to do the work.

British Submarine and 12 Men Lost

LONDON, Jan. 16.—The British admiralty this afternoon admitted that the submarine A7 had met with an accident at Plymouth. Advices to the admiralty from Plymouth stated that little hope for the crew of the A7 was held out.

It is believed that the submarine was wrecked and foundered while under water and that the crew were drowned.

DENY PLEA OF ASYLUM FUGITIVE

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 16.—Immediate bail is denied Harry K. Thaw in a decision announced today by Judge Ezra Mbrich of the United States District Court for New Hampshire.

[illegible] is one of the heaviest blows Thaw has suffered in New Hampshire. Aside from the personal freedom bail would mean him, Thaw and his counsel are[illegible] against the weight of the legal precedent which would be given by a refusal of Judge Aldrich had seen fit to accord bail for Thaw even before the final hearing on his habeas corpus writ.

Judge Aldrich filed with the bail decision [illegible] and will file habeas corpus decision.

Thaw's counsel is allowed an exception of record to the decision. [illegible] 24 to file their briefs on the habeas corpus proceedings. Merrill Sheriff [illegible] Thaw, [illegible] had asked for the [illegible] mental conditions are postponed until the final hearing upon the questions involved in the habeas corpus and extradition proceedings.

JEROME'S BRIEF FILED.

The original time for filing briefs on the habeas corpus and extradition hearings was extended to-day, when Jerome side has been filed. But Merrill Shurtleff of the Thaw counsel made a motion for a monthly more time in which to file his brief.

The motion to let no Time was also pending. The Thaw counsel agreed that with an exception there does existed in the line of time limits on the habeas corpus proceedings might be all the more reason for granting bail for Thaw.

An early decision on the bail question was desired. The Thaw camp was convinced that after this argument bail would be allowed. Thaw himself said that Jerome probably would continue to drone over here and on the bail question, though Jerome declared he would fight it to the finish.

A hearing on the question was expected next week, on January 22 or 23. But Judge Aldrich's order means that the question will be postponed until the hearing on the habeas corpus proceedings. And the date for that has not even been fixed. The latest date in the habeas corpus proceedings is the next time limit for filing the Thaw brief, January 23.

BAIL QUESTION NEEDLESS.

If the whole "bail" question were to be settled at the habeas corpus hearing the bail question would seem to be needless. But it is well understood that, whatever decision is made by Judge Aldrich on the habeas corpus and extradition matter, the case will be appealed by whichever side loses. And Judge Aldrich has intimated, also, that he will send the case up to the Appellate Court on some questions of law.

So the habeas corpus and extradition matters will drag on, and bail for Thaw will still be a pertinent question. Judge Aldrich will listen to the bail argument then.

But no bail for Thaw just now is the gist of his present decision.

DEATH THREATS IN LETTERS SENT TO NEMESIS OF THAW

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—A dozen anonymous letters threatening death to William Travers Jerome unless he discontinues his attempts to get Harry K. Thaw back in Matteawan have been turned over to a detective agency.

The letters have threatened death by various means, and all have been received by Mr. Jerome since the Lunacy Commission appointed by Judge Aldrich declared Thaw, if Judge Aldrich approved, would not be dangerous to liberty.

CARMODY ANSWERS CHANDLER'S ATTACK ON THAW POLICY

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 16.—Attorney-General Carmody, in discussing the statement of United States Senator William E. Chandler of New Hampshire to the effect that New York authorities had erred legally in the proceedings to bring Thaw back to this state, said today:

"The points made by Senator Chandler that New York should have made a demand on the New Hampshire authorities on the ground that he is a fugitive from justice, without going to the trouble of serving an indictment against Thaw, were lavered in correspondence between myself and Senator Chandler and also between Mr. Jerome and Senator Chandler.

"We originally asked for the return of Thaw on the ground that he was a fugitive from justice, having fled from justice. They took refuge behind his constitutional rights, declaring that it would be necessary for him to be extradited to the state of

Discovery Comes After 3000 Years

Buffalo House Takes the Taste Out of Castor Oil.

Since the earliest days of medicine chemists have been trying to take the taste out of castor oil.

The secret has at last been discovered by Spencer Kellogg & Sons of Buffalo, who are among the largest crushers and refiners of vegetable oils in the world. They have removed the castor oil taste, and smell, too, purifying the oil and making it better and more effective. Nothing is added to it, nothing good taken out of it.

Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil is tasteless in the fullest sense. Even children take it easily, for all the nauseating effect is removed.

Sold now at all drug stores in 25c and 50c sizes. Ask for Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil by name, for there are several preparations of castor oil mixed and flavored, which are not tasteless and do not act as well.

The public is protected by the trade mark, a green castor bean, bearing the signature, Kellogg's.

HEAT SPOILS BEAUTY

Why Americans Fail.

COULD LEAD WORLD

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Allyn Williams, noted English miniature painter, said today the only thing that prevents the American woman from being the most beautiful in the world is the effect of steam-heated rooms and dry atmosphere on her complexion.

"The Irish girl has the best skin in the world, and the English comes next," said Mr. Williams. "The American woman, in face, figure and dress, has the beauty of the English girl, combined with the vivacity of the Parisian, but lacks the peach-like complexion of her British sister."

SCORE CURLEY'S PLAN TO SELL PUBLIC GARDEN

ever said, and as I understand it there never can be any buildings erected on it except a City Hall. As I said, the suggestion is absolutely foolish."

John A. Sullivan, chairman of the Finance Commission, said:

"I would rather not express an opinion on Mayor-elect Curley's reported remarks about the Public Garden until I was absolutely sure he said it, as it has been reported, for it seems incredible to me."

MAY SELL BUNKER HILL.

Thomas Allen, chairman of the Boston Art Commission, said:

"The Public Garden is one of Boston's greatest assets, and if we once part with it we can never replace it. Its sale should not be considered for a minute. We could no more afford to part with it than we could with the Old South Meeting House or with Bunker Hill or the Common."

When Congressmen Murray and Josiah Quincy, who are in Washington, heard of the Curley proposition as Mayor Quincy laughed right out. Murray himself said that Curley must be joking.

Next was turned to the Public Garden proposition in the question of Curley's appointments. In addition to the department heads who are already slated for dismissal three were named early today. They are appointed building inspectors who openly opposed his election.

I will have nothing to say about patronage until I am sworn in," was the somewhat significant manner in which Mr. Curley commented on his plans.

Mr. Curley did not enter the chamber of the House of Representatives yesterday, but received an ovation when he appeared at noon today. Speaker Clark called him to the chair. Clark wanted to go to Boston to speak for Curley in the mayoralty campaign, but his engagements prevented. Curley was one of Clark's most vigorous and effective supporters for the presidential nomination in 1912, and it is said that but for Mr. Clark's support Curley would have been Secretary of War. At least Mr. Curley so claimed in one of his last speeches in the Boston mayoralty campaign.

CURLEY SEES WILSON.

Mr. Curley saw President Wilson at 10 today to discuss the immigration bill. He hopes to get away for Virginia Hot Springs for a week.

Reminded that he would have to begin writing the inaugural message pretty soon as the fourteenth day is the first Monday in February, Congressman Curley replied that there was no need to worry about that, as he already had the main features outlined in his mind. He received from his secretary, Mr. Dolan, today the form of the inaugural invitation, which he said he'd like his secretary to "fix" effect.

Some of the Mayor-elect's friends are urging him by wire and letter to engage Symphony Hall to accommodate the crowd that will want to witness the ceremonies. He will not decide this question definitely until he returns to Boston.

TO ABOLISH RECORD.

One hundred letters and half as many telegrams awaited the Congressman at Washington. These he read and forwarded to Boston, leaving instructions with the House postmaster to forward all his mail to Boston until further orders.

To a man who suggested a friend as a possible editor of the Boston City Record Mayor-Elect Curley said that if he had his way there would

SUFFRAGISTS EXPLAIN LIGHT VOTE BY WOMEN

"Nothing to vote for" is the explanation given by the women for the failure of two-thirds of the registered women in this city to vote last Tuesday.

Of the 19,329 women registered to vote for school board, only 2,646 cast their ballots. This is the lightest women school board vote since 1887. Ward 11, the so-called "silk stocking" ward, cast 45 per cent. of its feminine registration, the best ward showing in the city.

Mrs. Susan W. Fitzgerald, a suffrage leader and candidate for the school board two years ago, said today:

"We had nothing to vote for at the last municipal election. The men who control the Public School Association had so manipulated things that to all intents and purposes women voters were disfranchised, under our system of nominations.

"This association found that it never lost a fight. When its steering committee decided to endorse certain candidates, it was all over but the shouting. The election itself was a mere farce. And the women voters, knowing this full well, simply accepted the inevitable by staying home instead of casting the two votes in a farcical contest dominated by the ballot trust from the outset."

Miss Mabel Gillespie of the Trades Union League said: "So long as women are denied a voice in making the laws under which our schools are operated, and all other laws, it is absurd to expect them to turn out in the polls in very great numbers.

Harriet L. Raesch of the Socialist rank and file voters declared: "Women voters allied with the Boston Socialist party did not vote at all at the last election. And what is more, they will continue to remain away from the polls until the present city machine ceases to dominate in nomination is done away with."

To Extend B. & M. Notes to June 1

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Arrangements have been completed for the extension to June 1 of the $16,000,000 one-year 5 per cent. notes of the Boston & Maine Railroad, which mature February 3. On June 1, the company has $17,000,000 6 per cent. one-year notes maturing.

be no editor of the City Record because there would be no City Record to edit.

"I don't believe that the paper should be continued," he said. "It serves no useful purpose. I believe that the city should do its advertising and get its publicity in department matters through the press of the city. I want to see this City Record abolished."

Washburn Aims His Bill at 'Underground'

Representative Robert M. Washburn of Worcester today introduced a bill aimed at the New Haven's "underground line," providing that:

"All contracts, agreements or payments, on the part of public service corporations, or their relation to legislation, or with reference to publicity, the press or its employes, shall, with the name of the payee, the amount, and the nature of the service or disbursement, be filed, immediately upon the making thereon, with, and shall be subject to, the approval of the Public Service Commission."

Beilis Leaves Kiev for Palestine Farm

Special Cable to the Boston American

KIEV, Jan. 16.—Mendel Beilis, who was granted a passport by the governor of the city, has left, accompanied by his wife and five children, for Jaffa, Palestine, where he intends to settle on land given by the Baron Henri de Rothschild and become a farmer. Until he reached the Austrian frontier he kept his face muffled.

Premediately after he crossed the border he was besieged by reporters, but as the Boston AMERICAN had his story, Beilis refused to talk. He said he was feeling much better and added:

"I have given my complete memoirs to the AMERICAN, and I wish never to think of my misfortunes again."

Pressed to accept engagements, Beilis explained he was compelled to refuse all offers of public appearances because he feared his acceptance might harm the cause of Judaism, which had won a great victory in his case.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—The plea that the Titanic was unseaworthy when she left England in April, 1912, on her disastrous maiden trip to the United States, which cost the lives of over 1,000 persons, is to be advanced in a suit for damages brought against the White Star Line by Thomas Whiteley, one of the surviving stewards. The plaintiff sustained a fracture of the right leg in the wreck.

Whiteley's counsel, Allen Clement Edwards, M. P., will also argue on behalf of his client that there was negligence in the steering of the ill-fated vessel.

Rescue All Aboard Steamer on Rocks

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—The last of 240 passengers on the Southern Pacific steamer Thuron, which went on the rocks off Angel Island last night, were rescued early today. EVERETT WILL WAIT FALL OF CURLEY AXE

Building Commissioner Arthur G. Everett declared today that he will not resign from his position as head of the building Department of the city when Superintendent James M. Curley assumes his duties as Mayor at City Hall next month.

He will not even resign at the request of the new Mayor, but if he is discharged, will make no protest.

The commissioner said:

"It will be impossible for me to resign after what the Mayor-elect has said. I shall remain here as long as possible."

When asked if he would resign at the request of Mayor Curley he replied that he would not.

"What if the Mayor discharges you?" he was asked?

"He has that power. I should probably go," he replied.

"Would you take any legal action to keep your position?"

"I don't know that I would. I don't know that I could, anyway. I don't think its worth it," said the commissioner.

Harvard Square Subway Tied Up

The surface car section of the Cambridge subway at Harvard square was tied up for two hours today as a detailment and ten minutes after the tracks were cleared another derailment tied up the Spring Hill and Beacon street surface lines for over an hour.

The subway trouble came at 6:10 when an inbound heavily laden surface car from Lowell was going down the incline at the subway entrance from Massachusetts avenue. The brake rigging and all wheels left the rail. The passengers were shaken up. Until the car was replaced on the rails surface subway cars were switched to the surface rails at Harvard square.

The subway was cleared at 8:20 and, at 8:30, an outbound Spring Hill car was derailed at Hampshire street, near Inman square. The forward wheels went off the track.

GIVE BALL AT SOMERSET FOR HELEN DRAPER

By ELIZABETH ELLIOTT.

Among the younger matrons who have been doing more than their usual amount of entertaining this season is Mrs. Randolph Tucker, who before her marriage was the Texas belle and beauty, Miss Mona House. Mrs. Tucker, who belongs to the select little colony of society at Chestnut Hill, has made an enviable place for herself in the exclusive set since coming here as a bride. She naturally knew many of the smartest members of society previous to her marriage, as the Houses had made the North Shore their Summer abiding place for years.

The largest and most important ball of the week is that given tonight at the Hotel Somerset by Mrs. George A. Draper of Commonwealth avenue, when she and Mr. Draper will present their daughter, Miss Helen Draper. The Drapers will give a large dinner before the ball, when covers will be laid for eighty guests.

* * *

Mrs. Gordon Abbott and her attractive daughters, the Misses Catherine and Eleanor Abbott, have just returned to their Beacon street home after a visit to Baltimore, where they spent the holidays with Mrs. Abbott's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Tiffany.

* * *

Mrs. Francis S. Watson of Clarendon street, who has been spending some time as guest of friends in New York, returned early in the week and was among the notable guests at the opera on Wednesday evening. On that occasion she was looking particularly well in a gown of raspberry velvet trimmed with white lace and touches of black velvet.

* * *

Among the girls who have figured prominently in society during the Winter and who are just now among the missing, is Miss Elizabeth Thackara, daughter of Consul-General and Mrs. A. M. Thackara of Paris, and a niece of Mrs. Paul Thorndike of Marlboro street, who is at present the guest of relatives in Milwaukee. During part of her stay in Boston she was the guest of Miss Gordon Wells, whom she will visit again before sailing for Paris to join her parents.

MRS. RANDOLPH TUCKER, who has won enviable place as hostess

Ex-Mayor Hart's 85th Birthday Tuesday

Ex-Mayor Thomas N. Hart will celebrate his eighty-fifth birthday next Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ernst, his son-in-law, and daughter, will give a reception in honor of the event at No. 298 Commonwealth avenue, from 4 to 7 p. m.

Find Annapolis Tests Too Hard

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Captain J. H. Gibbons, superintendent of the Naval Academy, told the House Naval Affairs Committee that high school authorities in many cities had reported that the academy's entrance examinations were too rigid.

Hal Chase's ex-Wife Seeks Back Alimony

SAN JOSE, Cal., Jan. 16.—Suit to recover $116 back alimony has been brought in the Superior Court by Helen H. Chase against her former husband, Hal Chase, first baseman of the Chicago Americans. Mrs. Chase alleges that since December 1 Chase has paid her no alimony. She got her divorce on a cruelty suit when her husband sought a separation. She was granted $100 a month for herself and child.

Taft Protests at Tax on His Auto

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Jan. 16.—Former President William H. Taft has filed with the board of assessors of this city a protest against the valuation of his automobile at $4,500 for local taxation. Professor Taft says he paid but $3,000 for the machine, and it was a second hand one.

Raccoon, with Gold Tooth, for Wilson

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—A Mississippi coon was brought to the White House by Bryan P. Gotts, Democratic National Committeeman from Missouri, as a gift to President Wilson. Mr. Gotts proudly announced it the only raccoon in the world with a "gold tooth."

Radium Cures Colorado Patient

DENVER, Jan. 16.—John Brown, sixty-five years of victim, is the first cancer victim to be cured by radium in Colorado. Dr. J. P. Kelly secured the radium in bromide form from the Colorado School of Mines.

160 BULGARIAN VILLAGES RAZED BY GREEK ARMY

LONDON, Jan. 15.—In response to urgent calls for assistance from the relief workers among the Bulgarian refugees, the Macedonian relief fund in London is issuing a new appeal for funds. The Mansion of London, president of the fund, in his appeal states: "It is difficult to avoid impulsive when sounds exaggerated the appalling misery of the country or to think of its future without despair.

"The people who are now in most urgent need are the Bulgarian inhabitants of the neutral war. They are in the position because, during the Greek army burned everything in its path in the advance from Kukush, north of Salonika, through a hundred miles of area peopled by Bulgarian peasants.

"With few exceptions it burned every village and plundered what it could not burn. Nearly 160 villages were burned in this campaign, comprising about 14,000 houses, with a population of about 90,000.

"Some of these villages were north of Demirhissar, like Kukush, which had nearly 13,000 inhabitants. The population fled in a body to Bulgaria, leaving their crops, cattle and household goods.

"Many people are gradually returning to the ruins of their villages to dire need, dependent on charity for their barest subsistence. Bulgaria has been near to ruin by two wars, she has to provide not only for these Macedonians, but also for the Bulgarians who fled from Thrace. It is a task beyond her resources."

Cambridge Firemen and Police Get Raise

Old-Time Cold Cure—Drink Tea
Get a small package of Breakfast Blend Tea, or, as the Germans from which it is imported, Blend Tea. At any druggist's or a tablespoonful of the tea in a cup of boiling water steep it, pour through a sieve and drink a heaping full at any time. The most effective way to break a cold, relieve grip, is to steam the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels. This tea is a real old cure.
It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable. Therefore harmless.

PLAN MASS MEETINGS FOR CHURCH DAY

GO TO CHURCH DAY

Mass meetings for Go-to-Church Day will be held in every section of this city during the last week in this month.

To secure these meetings will be addressed by the most prominent ministers and laymen of Boston.

The Seattle local churches will hold their mass meeting in the Clarendon Street Baptist Church on Tuesday, January 20.

Every section of Boston will have a special colored pennant. The colors of the South End pincushion are black and red. These will be displayed outside every church in the South End two weeks before Sunday, February 8. Every church will have a Go-to-Church committee of twenty persons, who will systematically visit the locality where the churches are situated.

The Rev. S. H. Roblin, pastor of the Columbus Avenue Universalist Church, will hold a meeting of ministers in the study of his church next Monday afternoon.

OUTLINES NEW PLAN.

The Boston committee of Go-to-Church Day held a session in Pilgrim Hall today. The Rev. George L. Paine, pastor of the Pilgrim Hall Congregational Church, presided and outlined the plans to be followed in Boston churches.

Alexander Irvine of New York will be one of the special preachers on Go-to-Church Sunday in Maverick Church, Central square, East Boston. There will be present upon this occasion a large choir with orchestra.

Chaplain Horton of the State Senate said:

"I am in favor of Go-to-Church Day to bring about a better understanding of the churches.

"It must not be merely a spasmodic effort to win attention to the churches for one Sunday and then have all this enthusiasm die away. If Go-to-Church Day can be made to be a movement, with some permanent results to be shown afterwards, there can be no question about the value of its observance."

INDORSES MOVEMENT.

The Rev. Edward H. Chandler, secretary of the Twentieth Century Club, said:

"Go-to-Church Day is well adapted to bring about a closer relation between the non-churchgoer and the church.

"If the church adjusts itself more to the needs of the person who does not frequent its services this person also needs to make concessions and to get rid of his cold indifference to the church."

Lawrence ministers observed Go-to-Church Day last Sunday, but will co-operate with Boston ministers and hold special services Sunday, February 8.

The Rev. C. B. Bowser, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Lawrence, said:

"On Go-to-Church Day we had more than five hundred persons, when we usually have but one hundred and fifty. Why, we held services in addition in the basement of the church. Of course, during the campaign, I had my hat and coat off. We are going to keep Sunday, February 8.

"The clergy should stop knocking and get to work. Let every minister in Greater Boston get into the spirit of Go-to-Church Day and with a little effort we can make the day the greatest in the history of the churches."

CROWDS FLOCK TO BOSTON'S BIG POULTRY SHOW

Banner attendances are being recorded at Bechstein Hall, which continues today and tomorrow.

Today the big sales are scheduled to come about and it is expected that many thousands of dollars will change hands for bird to be delivered after the close of the show. A winner at the Boston show, no matter of what breed, always finds a purchaser.

While poultry folks were admiring the exhibits down stairs the cat-loving folks had their innings on the floor above, where a crowd surrounded the cage containing a winner of unusual beauty, a six-months-old "Wonder Boy," owned by Mrs. Fred Dunn of Providence. Although the tiny feline had just passed the age limit he was awarded a blue, and, incidentally, the award just jumped his value from $50 to $200.

Prince Humbert of Italy to Visit U. S.

TARANTO, Italy, Jan. 16.—Crown Prince Humbert, it is announced, will soon take a cruise aboard the Italian cruiser Puglia. The prince is now in his tenth year and it is possible that he will visit the United States.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you, drink lots of water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean. Flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which every one should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. They also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Catarrh! WHETHER IN Head, Throat, Stomach, Kidneys or Bladder, Use S. S. S.

It is definitely known that catarrh can be cured by the unique process of inoculating the blood with a special remedy that stop inflammatory conditions throughout the mucous linings of all the organs of the body. This is done with the famous Swift's Sure Specific, or S. S. S., as it is best known, S. S. S. It is taken into the blood just as naturally as the most nourishing food. It spreads its influence over every organ in the body, through all the veins and arteries, and enables all mucous surfaces to exchange inflammatory acids and other irritations for arterial elements that effectually cleanse the entire system, and then put an end to all catarrhal pollution. S. S. S. cleans out the stomach of mucous accumulations, relieves sour gas, bloat-making materials to enter the intestines, combines with these food elements to enter the circulation, and in less than an hour is at work throughout the body in the process of purification.

You will soon realize its wonderful influence by the absence of headache, a decided clearing of the air passages, a steadily improved nasal condition, and a sense of bodily relief that proves how completely catarrh often infects the entire system. You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores. For special advice on any blood disease write to the Swift Specific Co., 159 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Do not delay to get a bottle of S. S. S. from your druggist.

Always insist that you want S. S. S. and nothing else. Beware of all attempts to sell you a substitute.

'Insane Patients Had Fatal Disease'

WORCESTER, Jan. 16.—Medical Examiner Baker, testifying at the inquest into the deaths of Narcisse M. Giroux of Somerville and Charles Seaver of Allston, inmates of the Worcester State Hospital for the Insane, said both men were afflicted with diseases that would have caused death, and explained the thirteen fractures of Seaver's ribs by saying his condition was such that "a slight pressure would break them."

Bonar Law Sees No Home Rule Result

BRISTOL, Eng., Jan. 16.—Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition in the House of Commons, said here the conferences between the party leaders over home rule had been so far without result. He grieved to say that so far as he was able to judge there could be no result

THE OLD BUTLER CORNER

BELIEVE HONEIJ HAS DISCOVERED LEPROSY CURE

The belief that Dr. James A. Honeij, the leprosy expert at Penikese, has discovered a cure for leprosy is apparently proven by the release of Chin Yen, a Chinaman, and Elias Applebaum, a Russian, the first patients ever discharged. Both have been cured.

Applebaum had been in the Penikese Island Hospital about a year and Chin Yen for more than two years. Neither was what is termed an advanced case, they were hospitalent and yielded to the regular treatment followed at the island, which consists of hot sea-water baths, plenty of sunshine and fresh air and healthy food. Chaulmoodra oil, an East Indian oil, is also rubbed on the bodies, especially on those with lesions.

More than six months ago members of the State Board of Charity, which has charge of the island, were convinced that Dr. Honeij had found the cure for leprosy, but as he declared to carry his researches some steps farther nothing was said about it publicly. Now they feel certain of it.

Dr. Honeij, Dr. Welbach and Dr. Parker do not wish to make any such startling statement as Dr. Koch and others made regarding a "cure" for consumption—they are going to give to the world the results of the treatment in the cases that have been sent to Penikese thus far, including the two patients who have been discharged as cured.

Said Wife Was 'Error,' Sues for Lost Love

NEW YORK, Jan. 16—Mrs. Genevieve Prowert has brought suit for $10,000 against Stewart C. Howtholland, a Christian Science healer, charging he is partly responsible for the alienation of affections of her husband, Percival R. Prowert. Mrs. Prowert asserts that Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, Christian Science leader, told Prowert that his wife was "error" and "must be eliminated."

RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION
It's Me For Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.
That is the perfect use of thousands since Dr. Edwards discovered the Olive Tablet substitute for calomel.
Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's lifetime enemy, blends the form-forming vegetable elements of fine ripe olives with certain carefully selected liver tonics.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel but a vegetable substitute which has all the desirable effects of calomel but none of its dangerous after effects. They never force them to unnatural action.
If you have a "black broom mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—coated liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.
Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Co., Columbus, Ohio. All druggists.

WOMEN'S CLUBS WANT BOSTON POLICEWOMEN

Mrs. Robert Woods and Miss Marian A. Nichols will address a public legislative conference to be held in Copeland Women's clubrooms at No. 185 Boylston street tomorrow afternoon at 2.30o'clock. The object of the meeting is to plan to secure women police officers, or "street matrons," for Boston, whose duty will be to give better protection to the women on the thoroughfares and in other public places.

The women are on the warpath against the masher and the various other types of men who give much annoyance to women pedestrians, particularly those who find it necessary to travel alone. Those behind the street matron movement feel that women officers would also save from ruin many young girls. They would have the police matron do work similar to that of the women police at Portsmouth, N. H.; Newport and other cities.

A prominent society woman member of the Equal Suffrage Association made an investigation of conditions in the public places of Boston some time ago. Her observations covered a period of several weeks. Alone and unattended, she walked about the Common, Public Garden and through streets frequented by "mashers." Her report was of such a character that the association immediately had it turned over to a special committee, the duty of which is to try to have a law passed that will provide for street patrons.

Albany Puts on 14 Big Freight Engines

STOMACH MISERY GAS, INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" fixes sick, sour, gassy stomachs in five minutes.

Time it! In five minutes all stomach distress will go. No indigestion, heartburn, sourness or belching of gas, acid or eructations of undigested food, no dizziness, sloating, foul breath or headache.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in regulating upset stomachs. It is the surest, quickest and most certain indigestion remedy in the whole world, and, besides, it is harmless.

Millions of men and women now eat their favorite foods without fear—they know Pape's Diapepsin will save them from any stomach misery.

Please, for your sake, get a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store and put your stomach right. Don't keep on being miserable—life is too short—you are not here long, so make your stay agreeable. Eat what you like and digest it; enjoy it without dread of rebellion in the stomach.

Pape's Diapepsin belongs in your home anyway. Should one of the family eat something which don't agree with them, or in case of an attack of indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis or stomach disorder set in during the day or during the night, it is handy to give the quickest, surest relief known.

Yale Men Try to Abolish Tap Day

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Jan. 16.—That the agitation against Yale senior secret societies which started last year has not died out was shown when 200 members of the sophomore class gathered to discuss the question. Chandler Bennitt of Springfield, Mass., presided. The abolition of historic "Tap Day" was advocated.

P. F. Britt, M. D., of Santiago de Cuba, says: I have tested anti-kamnia tablets so thoroughly for years past, that it is no longer an experiment with me. They strike directly and effectively, without bad results, at the two most distressful points in chronic headache, fever and pain. With these two points "under control," I have both "cause and effect" where I want it. Asa for A-K tablets.—Bertha Medical Parlors.

FINANCE BOARD OPPOSES PLAN FOR NEW ANNEX

The Finance Commission has come out in opposition to Mayor Fitzgerald's plan to at once start construction of a new municipal building on the site of the old Probate Court, which Mayor-elect Curley proposes to sell to reduce the city debt. The commission also opposes proposed increases in the salaries of the chairman of the Board of Street Commissioners and the other members of the board.

Respecting these proposed increases the commission had this to say:

"It is not in accordance with sound financial policy to authorize increases of salaries near the close of the fiscal year. It would improve the financial system of the city if all prospective salary increases were incorporated in the departmental estimates and if no salary increases were made during the ensuing year except those which have been allowed in the budget.

"This would stop the pernicious practice of making increases in salaries shortly prior to election for the purpose of influencing the fulfilment after election of ante-election promises of salary increases."

The Council was advised to postpone action upon the proposed transfer of $150,000 from the appropriation of $300,000 for street lighting for the proposed new police headquarters, police station and school committee building.

The committee objected to the change in the ground that the Mayor-elect should be allowed to pass upon this matter.

Guilty of $1,400 Champagne Theft

George W. Steever and Arthur S. Gillard pleaded guilty in South Boston Court today to the larceny of $1,400 worth of champagne from the company for which they worked. They were held in $2,000 each.

BRANDEIS TO PRESIDE IN NEW YORK DISPUTE

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Simultaneously with the three days' investigation begun here by the Federal Commission on Industrial Relations into the operation of the protocol governing the garment making industry, a crisis was reached in the bitter controversy between certain manufacturers and labor union heads and Dr. Isaac A. Hourwich over the latter's retention as clerk of the Cloak Union in the Joint Board of Grievances.

During the session it developed that Dr. Henry Moskowitz, secretary of the Joint Board of Arbitration, had called a meeting for Sunday morning next at the Bar Association rooms, of all the varied interests engaged in the controversy. Louis D. Brandeis of Boston, chairman of the Arbitration Board, will preside. This will be the crucial proceeding in the strike controversy.

Under the provisions of the protocol, the manufacturers claim, the failure or refusal of any of the parties to appear before the Board of Arbitration or to abide by its decision automatically abrogates the protocol.

Should the controversy reach this stage, labor leaders predicted a repetition of the 1910 strike, with more than 50,000 garment workers thrown out of employment.

Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, John D. Lennon of Illinois, S. Thurston Ballard of Kentucky and James A. Connell of Washington represented the Federal Commission yesterday in taking the testimony of those subpoenaed to the hearing.

JAYNES' EMULSION
Of Pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil
Freshly Prepared

Last week we called attention to the merits of JAYNES' EMULSION, one of the leading preparations of our own laboratories. It is in great demand at this season of the year by those afflicted with deep-seated coughs, lung and bronchial troubles and other affections where particular attention to nutrition is desirable.

The response we received to the publicity we gave JAYNES' EMULSION was enormous and has led us to again call attention to it.

Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is recommended by physicians in affections such as we have mentioned above. A good emulsion of Cod Liver Oil cannot be made except under the most perfect conditions, by experienced people, from the best ingredients. This is all exemplified in JAYNES' EMULSION. The oil we use is the very finest quality possible to obtain, coming from the Norwegian fisheries, which produce the finest and purest. It is scientifically compounded by experienced chemists, and one of the most desirable features of it is, that it is manufactured by us fresh three times a week, which makes it preferable to many other kinds of emulsion, as it is an article which accomplishes best results when freshly prepared.

We unhesitatingly recommend JAYNES' EMULSION as being the best obtainable. In fact, so confident are we of its efficacy that every bottle of it sold by us is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction in every respect; if it does not we agree to instantly refund the money in every instance.

The price we ask for JAYNES' EMULSION places it within the reach of all. Regular $1.00 size bottle for..... 50c

COULDN'T ACT FOR AMATEURS, SAYS TEACHER

The trial of Walter L. Brannaghan, a Tremont street teacher of dramatic art and stage dancing, who is charged with larceny by four former pupils, was continued before Judge Hardy and a jury in Suffolk Superior Criminal Court today.

The complainants are Annie Mallen, of No. 24 Dover street; Bessie Burdell, of No. 18 Harvard street, Medford; Jessie Anderson of No. 24 Bailey avenue, Dorchester, and Josephine Peters, a Chelmsford quartermile, all of whom testified that they paid various sums for dramatic art or dancing lessons which they did not get.

Brannaghan, in his own defense told of the trials and tribulations of trying to place amateurs on the stage.

"I told these people," he said, "that I could show them how to act or dance, but that I couldn't act or dance for them.

He cited the case of Jessie Anderson, her sister Miss Mary and Miss Josephine Peters. Jack Mason as an example. "The trio was given a try out at the Chadwick Theatre, known as 'The Three Tourists,' after the girls had taken lessons from him. The act was complete in sound, until the time when all three were supposed to do an eight step together. Suddenly Miss Jessie looked around and discovered that her sister and friends were not. This Brannaghan testified, gave her stage fright and young Mason caught it, too. In the meantime Miss Mary did not appear in the finale because her nerves, in the excitement, could not button her dress up the back.

"I did everything in my power to make the act go," said Brannaghan. "Why, I even hired a taxi for the girls to go to the theatre in style while I rode on a street car. I gave the stage manager a $1 tip and asked him to do all he could for the act with the lights and so forth. The girls separated with me afterwards for the sorry showing they made before the officials of several booking agencies I had invited to see their act."

Firemen Attend Funeral of Hackett

The funeral of Joseph A. Hackett of Ladder Company 15, and aide to Deputy Chief Peter F. McDonough, was held today in St. Margaret's Church, Dorchester. Hackett was killed at the W. & A. Bacon Company fire. District Chief Michael J. Kennedy and a detail of firemen escorted the body.

TANG OUT OF TANGO

Anne Morgan Rules Bar Twists

'BE CALM, DON'T SHAKE'

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The tang is nearly all taken out of the tango by the rules under which Miss Anne Morgan, daughter of the late J. P. Morgan, executive the new steps Miss Morgan is a patron of the Castle House, where other constant guests include Miss Elizabeth Marbury and Miss Elsie DeWolfe. The clubhouse today announced these rules for its dancers:

Rule No. 1—Do not wriggle the shoulders. A calm and serene expression of the shoulders is most important.

Rule No. 2—Do not shake the hips. Do not shake your partner or anything else you feel like shaking, but your hips must remain unshaken.

Rule No. 3—Do not twist the body. Think how the floor would look if every dancer tied himself or herself into a bowknot. If you can remember that you are at a social gathering and not in a gymnasium and if you don't attempt the ugly and obsolete turkey trot, bunny hug and grizzly bear, you can trip the light fantastic toe and be perfect gentlemen and ladies.

Rule No. 4—Do not flourish the elbows. Fluffiness on shirts and elbows are not the thing nowadays.

Rule No. 5—Do not pump the arms. Pump your partner if you must pump something. Pumps are all right on the feet, but not on the arms.

Rule No. 6—Do not hop. The glide's the thing.

Rule No. 7—Avoid low, fantastic and acrobatic dips. If because you want to reduce or for any other reason you must be persuaded go to a gymnasium. Castle House does not encourage exhaustic stunts on its dancing floor.

Do not rest your partner in death grip. The gentleman should rest his hand lightly against the lady's back, touching her with the finger tips only or, if preferred, with the inside of the wrist and the back of the hand. His left hand and forearm should be held up in air parallel.

Rescues Old Woman at Fire in Chelsea

Mrs. Mary Coulbert, seventy-five years old and lame, overcome by smoke, was carried from her apartment on third floor to the street, by William Brown of No 320 Broadway, during a fire that badly damaged the house at Nos. 321 and 323 Broadway, Chelsea.

Sift Whiskey Buying at Malden Poor Farm

An investigation of the purchase of whiskey for the Malden Poor Farm under the guise of medicine is being investigated by Councilman C. Archer Blackbirder. This liquor was given to two inmates for medicine and both became intoxicated and started a fight that ended in one being taken into the Malden District Court and fined $20 for assault.

Becker Inherits $388.

"Teachers are often better for a child than its own family," declared Henry W. Holmes in speaking before the Boston Twelfth Club at the Elizabeth Peabody House.

"Kindergarten training," he continued, "gives relief to the home at a time when the child is often a problem. But, more important, it relieves the child from the mother."

PANAMA and the CANAL in Picture and Prose EDUCATES as well as ENTERTAINS

Willis J. Abbot, the author of this book, takes you in at the front door of Panama, tells you of the time when Columbus searched for a natural waterway to the Pacific Ocean, brings you up through the centuries of revolution and warfare, and on through to the realization of the greatest achievement of this day and age. He tells you of the people and the country, of the past as well as the present, and even dips into the promises for the future. The story is inspiring—filled to the full with local color and human interest—a story that will live as long as the great canal itself.

ANYTHING YOU WANT? ASK THE LEGISLATURE

If you don't like the way the man across the street cuts his hair, now is the time to appeal to the Legislature.

And everybody's doing it.

The time for filing petitions asking for new legislation expires at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. After that hour, new bills can be submitted only by (1) a vote of the Committee on Rules and (2) a four-fifths vote in the House.

The heads of the clerks were barely visible today behind the increasing piles of new petitions.

A suggestion of the "poisoned needle" hysteria is seen in the petition of Charles N. Prouty and others for legislation to provide that whoever applies or administers any drug to a woman or girl, with intent to overpower her, shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than seven years.

George F. A. McDonagan wants a law to provide for the display of motor vehicles of a "green light on the left-hand side and a red light on the right-hand side."

George A. Gilman doesn't like the way we vote in Boston on the question of liquor license. Mr. Gilman wants "local option" by wards.

Residents of Melrose, as well as Malden, will take notice of the petition of Mayor Schumacher of Malden for permission for the city of Malden to establish a Malden tuberculosis hospital "within the limits of the city of Melrose."

Former Speaker Joseph Walker, now a power in the Progressive party, would provide free transportation to the polls at public expense, of aged and infirm voters.

SMOKING LEGISLATION.

Gentlemen who couldn't live without smoking, and people who detest the very smell of tobacco, will agree that the petition of Fremont L. Pugsley is interesting, to say the least. If Brother Pugsley has his way about it, the Legislature of 1914 will pass a law to "prohibit smoking in public places."

Is six years too long a term for United States Senators? The youthful and handsome Senator Brennan of Charlestown thinks so, apparently, for Senator Brennan stands sponsor for an amendment to the Constitution making the Senators' term two years.

Next appears Citizen John D. Ryan of Holyoke, asking a law "to provide that the names of persons arrested for drunkenness shall not be made public."

Arthur J. Davis and others would further restrict the sale of intoxicating liquors by druggists.

Representative Chandler of East Bridgewater would "make it the duty of all persons using public highways to keep vehicles as far toward the right-hand side of the road as practicable." Mr. Chandler, in another bill, would "increase the punishment for the reckless operation of motor vehicles."

Many new bills of importance are on file.

Chester R. Lawrence wants a municipal lodging house in Boston.

Edward F. Harrington asks for a commission to develop the Port of Fall River.

VACCINATION AND PRIMARIES.

The opposition of many of the textile centres to the new Child Labor law is brought to mind by the bill of Senator Andrew F. Doyle of Newbedford, to increase the number of hours that minors may work in any one week from forty-eight to fifty-four.

John J. Cummings asks that promotions in the Boston Police Department may be determined by competitive examination.

Richard H. Robinson asks for old-age pensions for all citizens, sixty-two or over who have paid a poll tax for twenty-five years.

Former Senator George Holden Tinkham would prevent officers and employes of trust companies from receiving any benefits on account of investments by the company.

Plans for city and town school buildings, if the Legislature wants to please E. U. Herman of Boston, must be submitted for the approval of the State Board of Education.

Representative McInerney would have a primary election in December for Mayor of Boston, the two survivors to go before the voters on Election Day.

James T. Bagshaw would permit unvaccinated children to attend the public schools—except when an epidemic of smallpox threatens—on a written statement that parents or guardians are opposed to vaccination.

VOTES FOR WOMEN.

Representative "Eddie" Carr of Hopkinton would "prohibit a murderer from inheriting money or property from the murdered person's estate."

And former Speaker Walker asks that the word "male" be stricken from the Constitution where "qualifications of voters" are mentioned.

That means, of course, "Votes for Women."

Springfield Slayer Convicted in Italy

SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 16.—Chief of Police Guilty has been notified by the Italian Consul that Antonio Gual, charged by the Springfield police with the murder of Aniello Siano, a storekeeper, in this city, in September, 1910, was found guilty of the crime before an Italian court and sentenced to thirty years' imprisonment.

Dr. Samuel A. Eliot Visiting Navajos

The Rev. Dr. Samuel A. Eliot, president of the American Unitarian Association, who is also a member of the United States Indian commission, is making a journey through the Navajo Indian reservations in Arizona. On his official inspection of the Navajo Indian reservations Dr. Eliot is accompanied by a Catholic priest, the Rev. Fr. Ketcham.

2,320 Ask State Aid to Get Work

Four hundred and thirty-nine women and 1,881 men have asked Supt. Sears of the State Free Employment Bureau to aid them in finding work. This number of unemployed is the largest on record in ten years.

Garrity Wants to Succeed Curley

John F. Garrity of Ward 20, Dorchester, has announced his candidacy as a Progressive for Congress to succeed Mayor-elect Curley.

Tufts Sophs Rescue Kidnaped Leader

Tufts sophomores banqueted in triumph at Riverbank Court, Cambridge, last night after rescuing their class president, Henry L. Stafford, from a band of freshmen who kidnaped him early in the day and carried him to Medford only in his pajamas and a sheet, in an automobile to Nashua, N. H., back again to Mattapan and finally to a house in Dorchester. It took five husky second-year men to put Stafford's two freshmen guards to route after they had located his last hiding place just before the hour set for the class dinner.

Mrs. Oliver Ames, Sr., 74 Years Old Today

Mrs. Oliver Ames, Sr., who is seventy-four years old today, was surprised at her home, No. 355 Commonwealth avenue, last evening, by twenty-five members of the band of the Oliver Ames High School of North Easton. The boys, who receive as gifts from Mrs. Ames their instruments, their musical instruction, their uniforms and even their music, played for three hours.

Views Exchanged at Mother and Son Feast

At the first "mother and son" banquet ever held in the United States at the Newton Y. M. C. A. a mother and a boy exchanged views. Hugh Boyd, a Harvard student, spoke on the subject, "If I Were a Mother, the Kind I Should Like to Be," and in return Mrs. C. D. Keppner, who had come with her son, Chase Keppner, described "If I Were a Boy, the Kind I Should Like to Be."

Murlin Attacks Our Liquor Complacency

"I get weary of the smug complacency of Massachusetts in regard to the movement for abolition of liquor," President Murlin of Boston University told prohibition workers at the Park Street Church. "It stands a shame and disgrace to the State that is so frequently at the head of reform movements. The business in Kansas is where it belongs; in the category of crime. It could well be so in Massachusetts."

GIRLS REFUSE TO SLICE ROPES AT RADCLIFFE

The chief, Mary Cooper of the [illegible] Department has a mutiny on hands. The 500 students under command object to sliding down the rope fire escapes of the dormitories.

Miss Cooper says it is all right to show how to slide down the rope in the fire drill, but that showing honesty at such a demonstration, with the students only half a block apart, is another matter.

Every time the fire drill takes place unannounced the girls will rush out of windows, sliding they happen to be in, but they also assert they will leave by the stairways and scorn the use of the windows and rope escapes.

So far, aside from the Christmas vacation, the Radcliffe girls have been practicing sliding down the ropes in the gymnasium until they are proficient. Now comes the announcement a fire drill may be held at any time and that the students are expected to act just as they would if there was a real blaze. There's where Chief Cooper finds her authority questioned.

TENER WARNS MAGNATES IF HIS CIRCUIT TO GET BUSY AND GO AFTER UNIGNED MEN

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTING NEWS

INDIANA BOXER BELIEVES HE WILL SOME DAY WIN HONORS IN MIDDLEWEIGHT CLASS

NATIONALS IN SCRAMBLE TO SIGN PLAYERS

According to dispatches from New York and Kansas City, Mo., today, National League magnates, managers and even club secretaries are scurrying through the country in an effort to stave off the Federal League in its attempts to garner players under reserve to them.

President John K. Tener, realizing the present serious situation of the National League, sent word to the club owners in his circuit to get busy at once. The tip had no sooner gone the rounds than representatives from six National League clubs went after their unsigned players.

President Barnella and Manager Robinson of the Brooklyn Club were successful right away and yesterday swung four men into line by getting them to sign contracts at Kansas City. Strangely enough, Manager Fred Clarke of the Pittsburgh Pirates wandered into the same city, where his efforts to sign up his star pitcher, Claude Hendrix, availed him nothing, so far as is known.

EBBETTS GETS FOUR IN LINE.

The Brooklyn players who signed contracts are Outfielders "Zach" Wheat and Joe Riggert, the former Red Sox, and Pitchers Pat Ragon and Mitchiser.

President Schuyler Britton of the St. Louis Cardinals went to Pittsburgh after Doak, one of his star pitchers. The Cincinnati club sent Secretary Stephens to the same city to make sure of Heinie Berghammer, who is to succeed Joe Tinker at shortstop, and while there he met Johnny Evers, who was after Bert Humphries' signature. As Manager Charlie Doom is tied up in vaudeville, he Phillies will send out a scout for the players who have not yet signed for next season.

In spite of this proof that the Federal Leaguers have the National League magnates in an unhappy frame of mind, President Ebbetts of the Brooklyn club doesn't seem to think they will succeed. In a statement he made while in Kansas City, Ebbetts said:

TINKER OFFER STILL STANDS.

I am confident that Tinker will play with us. He will see what a mistake he has made soon and will accept the contract I gave him and the $10,000 bonus offer, which still stands.

"I will not say what steps I will take to try to recover the $15,000 paid the Cincinnati club for Tinker in case he sticks to the Federal League.

"The Federals cannot survive, and Fielder will soon see this. He is hard enough for the majors to make money today. Without organization no league can succeed, and organization is the backbone of baseball today. The Federals are in five minor league towns, which are educated to minor league baseball, and will not pay major league prices. We are not worrying about other players jumping. They are farmed out enough so the club the Federals cannot make good."

Maranville and Four Others Sign for 1914

Five more Braves have attached their signatures to Boston National League contracts for the next season. They are: Walter Maranville, Otto Hess, Lesllie Mann, and Crutcher and Fred Heroche, two recruit pitchers. Maranville went about signing his contract in an unusual way. He put his name to a blank contract and let President Gaffney fill in the salary he desired pay the little shortstop for his services. Gaffney agreed to this and it is said that Maranville is perfectly satisfied with the terms given him.

Outlaws Angling for Two Braves

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 16.—Otto Knabe, manager of the Baltimore Federal League Club, is angling for Vincent Campbell, the old outfielder of the Boston Nationals, and Jack Quinn, who was secured by the Braves from the Rochester International League team last Fall. Campbell is giving his offer serious consideration, but Quinn refuses to budge.

Cady First Red Sox to Sign New Contract

Forest Cady, the husky catcher, has signed a contract with the Red Sox for the coming season. Cady is the first Red Sox player to affix his signature to the new form of contract.

Four Sign Contracts with Brooklyn Club

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The Brooklyn Baseball Club has received signed contracts from Second Baseman Catshaw, Catcher Otto Miller and Pitchers Brown and Pfeffer.

COAST BOXING FANS OPPOSED TO HOPE BOUTS

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—Heavyweights used to be the fighters to bring delight to the hearts of San Francisco fans, but no more. It's the little fellows they want to see in action now. They have had their fill of the white hopes. They have finally come to the conclusion that this race of fighters is fast passing on its way, and that within a very few years a hope will stand a good chance to get himself a fat job in some museum, principally because there will be nothing for him to do in the ring. Anyhow, this is the way it looks right now and nobody can see much of a change in the future.

While the Pelky-Smith encounter was a bit faster than usual heavyweight mixups which have been offered us during the last couple of years, it failed by far to come up to the standard which San Francisco deserves. Nine out of every ten men who witnessed it had something harsh to say about the affair.

And they were all willing to admit that the two best members of the entire hope army performed for their benefit. This may be a little one at that, but unfortunately none of its members have been endowed with enough class to pass muster before a critical crowd such as they must go up against just as soon as they hit San Francisco.

Gunboat Smith is without doubt the pick of the big white fellows. He has improved greatly since his last start in this city, and both he and his manager, Jim Buckley, are entitled to a lot of credit for the success they have attained. But, still, the Gunner has a whole lot to learn.

This big fellow should be handed all the encouragement that is coming to him, but in justice to the game it must be said that he would not stand the chances of a snowball in Manilla against either Johnson or Langford, unless these big spaces have gone back about 50% per cent. within the last year or so. The Gunner does not look to be in the same class with either of the black men in any department of it game.

According to all the stories which have been floating from one end of the world to the other, both Johnson and Langford have hit the old slide with a thud and are now on their way to the bottom. It is also said that the first good white man to meet either of them will win by a knock-out, and before many rounds have elapsed.

This makes the outlook a little more bright for Smith. He probably will get a crack at one or possibly both of them before the year is out. But if he does he must take excellent care that he does not miss those right hand swings like he missed them against Pelky. Imagine what those could would do under such conditions, provided they had the strength left.

If Smith is steered up against Georges Carpentier over in Europe instead of one of the big smokes it will help his cause a whole lot. While we have never seen the French sensation in action here, we are led by the records to believe that the Gunner has all over him and that he ought to stow him away in jig time.

GEORGE E. PHAIR SAYS:

EVERYBODY'S DOING IT.

I searched the game of baseball through and through,
Until my brain was weary with fatigue,
But not a single player came to view
Who was not flirting with the Federal League.

Baseball players are divided into three classes, to wit: Those who have signed with the Federals, those who are dickering with the Federals, and those who have refused to sign with the Federals.

The Washington American League team writes that he has already signed a Washington contract and that he is therefore unable to do business with the Feds.

"Joe Tinker," avers Hughey Jennings, "will be with Brooklyn next Summer." Hughey has been spending his vacation in Bermuda, where he evidently was overcome by the odor of onions.

A dispatch from Paris says that George Carpentier has earned $100,000 in the last five years. Whaddayamean earn?

We hear no more of the report that Gunboat Smith and Jess Willard will meet in Milwaukee. The man wretch who started the report is still at large.

In view of the clouds hovering around the Federal League it is certain that Tom Jones is not in any way connected with it.

Ned Hanlon says he has his own money invested in the Federal League, thereby leading one to suspect that it is a sure thing.

Chick Evans, who has volunteered to teach us how to play golf, deserves credit for his utter nonsense. It would be harder than teaching Ping Bodie how to run bases.

The report that Kid McCoy interested Maurice Maeterlinck in a boxing club shows that Maurice does not care what becomes of his bank roll.

STAR ATHLETES TO COMPETE IN ARMORY GAMES

The Coast Artillery Corps meet has become a feature of the Winter sporting calendar. The athletes have a chance for a thorough tryout for the big B. A. A. meet and there are features in the Corps meet which the B. A. A. management ignores, which make the program at the Irvington Street Armory all the more interesting.

The rescue race, obstacle race, and the relay race, limited to members of the Coast Artillery Corps, are always interesting, and strong competition is the rule. The wall scaling contest is a thrilling performance as well as a test for the best trained athlete. These spectacular features are not on the schedule of any meet but that of a military organization.

Relay racing is the most popular of all the events in an indoor meet and the promoters of Winter meets, appreciating the love of the spectator for these races, are putting more and more on every year.

The Coast Artillery meet this year is especially attractive in that so many relays are scheduled. Wesleyan and Worcester Poly, old rivals on the track, have teams pitted against one another in a relay race that is bound to be replete with sensations. Last year Polytech was beaten by the closest possible margin in a race that brought all the spectators to their feet. This year the Worcester boys have trained for this one meet and are out to win. Rhode Island State and Boston College have asked permission to put rival relay teams on and a grand race is looked for. Arthur Duffey, the old sprinter, has the Boston College boys in hand and has them down in fine shape.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 16.—Eighty per cent. of the players of the American League have been signed for the approaching season, according to B. B. Johnson, president of the league.

Golfer Travers Going After Foreign Titles

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Jerome D. Travers, the amateur champion, is going abroad to compete in the British championships. The titleholder announced that he had engaged quarters in Sandwich, where the tournament will be held beginning May 18. It will sail about March 10 or 12.

Besides taking part in the annual tournament at Sandwich, Travers will go over to France for the amateur tournament of that section at La Baule, beginning May 25. He will then return to England for the open at Prestwick on June 18.

Women's Title Golf Matches in May

According to the announcement of the Women's Golf Association at its annual meeting, the State championship will be played May 25 to 30 inclusive, and the Eastern golf title will be played at Ardsley, New York, beginning the week of June 1. No entries for either championship have been selected as yet.

HOLD SKATING CARNIVAL AT FRANKLIN FIELD

Final arrangements for the first grand skating carnival under the auspices of the Park and Recreation Departments have been completed. The carnival is to be held at Franklin Field tonight at 8 o'clock. Accommodations have been made for about 50,000 people.

The program will begin with a band concert. Then the bonfire will be set, and special events will be arranged along the cinder course side of the field. The races will follow and then will come the fancy skating and the speed features in the races and in the fancy skating some of the best skaters in this vicinity will be seen. The competition will be in charge of Harry C. McGrath.

The races will consist of a 220 yard dash, 440 yard dash, one-mile race, two-mile race, 880 yard race for girls under sixteen and hurdle race. In addition to this there will be a barrel jumping exhibition by Gordon Thompson, and an exhibition of fancy skating by some of the best professionals. There will also be a competition in amateur fancy skating.

Sale of Overcoats

FROM

Two of Boston's Best Makers

Here's the "Why and Wherefore" Of This Great Sale

THIS season's weather broke all records for mildness—clothing manufacturers were practically idle at a time of the year when every mail brings in huge re-orders. Surplus stocks remain at high levels instead of decreasing. And the very moment that manufacturers signified their intentions to "cut loose" and forget profits, we sent our buyers into the market. Every maker with an overstock of worthy clothing was visited, wherever the price was "right" we bought. The result is the most remarkable sale in the annals of merchandising—a sale that brings fine overcoats to you at prices below manufacturing cost.

We place on sale today the entire stock of two of Boston's largest manufacturers, including long overcoats, short belted coats and single and double breasted Chesterfields

Overcoats Made to Sell at $25 to $30 — $15.50

Overcoats Made to Sell at $20 to $22 — $12.75

FEAR 10,000 ARE DEAD IN JAP DISASTER

TOKIO, Jan. 16—Ten thousand persons are missing in the district in Southern Japan devastated by the eruption of the volcano Sakura-Jima by earthquake, tidal waves and fire, and it is feared they all have perished.

Messages received today by the government from the authorities of Satsuma Province, in the southern part of the island of Kiushiu, state that, with the exception of thirty-three persons who took refuge in a cave, nearly 10,000 persons surely must have been killed on the island of Sakura, upon which the volcano is located.

The lava beds were too hot and the clouds of poisonous fumes too dense to allow a complete exploration of the island by sailors from the warships in Kagoshima Bay, but it was ascertained that no human being could have escaped the deadly effusions of the volcano. The island had a population of 17,000 souls before the eruption and of the number only a few more than 500 escaped, it is estimated in official dispatches.

The eruptions of the volcano had abated today, although lava was still flowing from the mountain. The physical aspect of the island has been completely changed.

Examination of the city of Kagoshima, which was overwhelmed by the earthquakes, fires and tidal waves, show that many bodies are still beneath the ruins and that vigorous sanitary precautions must be taken to prevent an epidemic of disease.

Troops and sailors have been put to work clearing away the wreckage in the district around Kagoshima. Tent cities have been established for the refugees.

DON'T SCOLD AN IRRITABLE CHILD

If little tongue is coated, surely give "California Syrup of Figs."

Mother! Your child is not naturally cross or I perish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once. When feverish, fretful, cannot sleep, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act well, has stomachache, indigestion, remember a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given. Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children, as it gives a trustworthy relief in a few hours all the foul, undigested, sour, fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative" and it never fails to effect a good, thorough cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy, mother. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but ask for the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 25-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs" then look and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Counterfeits are being sold here. Don't be fooled!

Recovered from Lung Trouble—Now Insured

Insurance companies will not accept any applications from persons who have been afflicted with lung trouble, but I have been insured and am glad to say that the lung trouble is a thing of the past. I was afflicted with a severe cough, which developed into lung trouble, and was very weak. I was under the care of a physician, who told me my lungs were affected. Not satisfied, I went to another doctor, who, after examining me said that I was in the first stages of Lung Trouble. At this point I started in to take Dr. Boschee's Karavan. The night sweats stopped almost immediately, my cough became looser and gradually disappeared. My appetite picked up and my physician has pronounced me perfectly sound, which together with the fact that I have just been accepted by two different insurance companies for insurance, makes me sure of my entire recovery by Eckman's Alterative."

(Affidavit) W. E. GIF.

Eckman's Alterative, or Dr. Boschee's Karavan Alterative, as it has been sometimes known, is the best remedy we have ever found for the cure of severe chronic and lung affections. Breathe Eckman's Alterative through the inhaler, combining the system treatment as prescribed, sometimes helps in a few days. Sold by leading druggists. Write Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.

A Girl Always Places the Proper Age for Girls to Marry at an Age That Tells Her Own

THE AMERICAN'S MAGAZINE PAGE

The Manicure Lady

"I HAVE saw a lot of things in the papers that I thought was kind of dippy," said the Manicure Lady, "but I think the foolishest thing that I ever seen was a statement made by some lady in a paper the other day."

"I suppose it was about voting," said the Head Barber.

"No, George, it wasn't about voting. Honest to goodness, if you keep on talking about us women voting I will begin to think that you men is carefully planning to trim us in 1915. No, this piece that I read was about beauty, the thing even dearer to a woman's heart than voting or her husband's salary. The woman that wrote the piece said that if a girl was to think beautiful thoughts all the time, she would get to be beautiful herself. Can you beat that?"

"There may be a good deal of truth in it," said the Head Barber.

"There may be a good deal of truth in the story about the whale swallowing Joan of Arc," replied the Manicure Lady, "but you have got to show me, George. My sister Mayme was a old maid friend named Euphasia Westernorther that hasn't did anything except to think beautiful thoughts since she was a little girl in short dresses, and she is about as handsome as Harry Lauder. She has two of the swellest moles on her cheeks that you ever seen, George, and I would like to see the beautiful thoughts that could take them off. No, George, there is no use denying the fact that us girls has got to resort to a certain amount of Nature's remedies, such as lip rouge and powder.

"Now Mayme is a girl that is all the time thinking beautiful thoughts. I suppose it is because she is like Wilfred. She likes poetry and use read a yard of it while I am reading a ad about Monday's bargains. Anyhow, most of her thoughts is beautiful, but never willstanding, she has one of the shinniest noses that you ever seen. It looks like high noon after she has been sitting in the theatre ten minutes, and you have got to shine me, George, if beautiful thoughts are half so effective in a case like that as a little powder puff.

"I guess most of the girls has to powder some," said the Head Barber, "but men has powder put on their faces after they get a shave, so I can't see a lot of difference. The only thing that I don't like to see the Missus do is to put red stuff on her lips. She had a lady friend once that was all the time touching up her mouth with carmine, or whatever she called it, and I told the wife the first time I seen some of it on her lips that I wanted her just as she was, not as one of them there artists might paint her."

"It's a good thing anyhow that women don't have to get beautiful or stay beautiful by thinking beautiful thoughts," said the Manicure Lady. "Goodness knows that there is a swell chance around this shop for a girl like me to think beautiful. We are lucky if we can keep on thinking at all. Imagine me thinking about something pretty, George, if I have one of them bevel headed actors come in here to be trimmed like dis. There ain't many beautiful thoughts in this game except the thought that it is nearly time to go home. What would you do, George, if you had to think beautiful thoughts all day long?"

"That would be easy for me," replied the Head Barber. "I would just keep thinking of you."

A Finisher

A witness in a particular case had been examined by the lawyer of the plaintiff and was turned over to the lawyer for the defence for cross-examination.

"Now, then, Mr. Smith," began the legal one, "what did I understand you to say that your occupation is?"

"I am a plumber," answered the witness.

"I see," persisted the lawyer; "but you must be more definite. Do you polish them or do you move them?"

Resinol stops skin troubles

Greater Love

True Story of Boston's Little Lost Sister Who Found Herself

By JANET WRIGHT

CHAPTER XV.

Continued

SHE showed her surprise. "I didn't wait to hear any more," she admitted. "I'd heard all I wanted."

"Maybe you all right," I assured her. "She was a silly girl to go up there, of course. But she was smart enough and brave enough and strong enough to keep out of harm there—and, Mrs. Slocum, don't you think she's learned her lesson?"

THE RECONCILIATION

She sat in silence for a moment—mechanically made change for three customers, then muttered:

"She hadn't ought to have done it. Me working my fingers to the bone here for her."

"I know—I know," I agreed. "And Madge knows. She's as sorry about it all as you are. If you give her a chance you know she'll be all right now."

"I've given her every chance in the world." It was her last protest, and I returned:

"Do you know that if you turn her out you give her just one chance in a hundred of keeping straight?" pointed around the restaurant where more than one girl showed the marks of her life all too plainly. "You know enough about this sort of thing to know just how small a chance Madge has of getting along."

Mrs. Slocum was already convinced. I saw. But like all of us she wanted to be persuaded. I talked to her for half an hour longer. At length, reluctantly, she said:

"Oh, all right—I suppose you've got her hid around the corner somewhere. Send her home."

Before I could thank her, she added:

"But I can't never trust her again."

I had seen enough of angry mothers to be able to smile at that threat; and I sent Madge to her home that night confident she would be welcomed.

Her mother is her best chum now.

Three blocks away from my boarding house, which lies on one of the cross streets between Columbus avenue and Tremont street, there is a tangle of cheap tenements. These dwellings rear themselves shoulder to shoulder—narrow well-like openings, bringing a minimum of light and air to the tiny, dark rooms within. What air there is is hampered and clogged by the clothes—the washings—which are hung from every window and on ropes stretched across the areaways to be dried.

In these apartments dwelt Minnie Harper, with the man she called her father. I saw her first in the Municipal Court, whither she was brought to answer to a charge of stealing clothing from those flapping lines outside her narrow windows.

NO TRACE OF CHARM

Minnie Harper was "...eteen years old, and with no trace of girlish charm or beauty left in her. Her hair was lifeless, mud-color. Her cheeks were unhealthily mottled. Her line cooled in sharp lines that cut her face from nose to chin. She was thin, haggard, and her eyes were the eyes of some rat, some verminous little creature of the sneaking ways.

I acted as probation officer to investigate her case, and upon questioning the girl was told this story:

"I am nineteen," she told me. "I live with my father.

"My father is seventy-three years old. Till three weeks ago he worked all the time. But then he was taken sick, and we had no money except to keep us going.

"Since that time I have had to take care of him all the time. I used to make money on odd jobs sometimes. But now I have to stay with him.

"He couldn't even have a doctor. Father is at home now alone—probably crying for me." She spoke in a tone of dull misery, monotonous as her every life itself.

"He's awful cold-blooded. He don't sleep warm at night, and he can't get clothes enough to keep him from shivering.

"I've given up my own bed clothes to him, and he's been sick. I've put the rug over him part of the time. But he's still cold. And I was freezin', see? We didn't have no heat at all. I took those clothes off the line outside our window, 'cause I had to do it or freeze. They was some underclothes, and a bed spread. I dragged the line around till I could get what I wanted. But the woman that owned them saw me, and told the police. I don't care—I'd do it again. I had to have the stuff."

SEEMED LIKE TRUTH.

I questioned her back and forth for a time, till it seemed she was certainly telling the truth in the matter. She persisted in her version till I accepted it, and in the end I was asked:

"Minnie, is there any one you want to come and see you—or anything I can do help you?"

She hesitated perceptibly — then suggested:

"You might git Jack Hatch to come an' see me. He's a friend of my father's. He works down at the B & M. yards in Charlestown." She gave me the number of the freight house and added:

"He said once he'd do anything for me."

There was a pathetic wistfulness in her tone, as though she realized that what Hatch had said once in might not now be willing to "back up." Nevertheless there was a chance, and I agreed to telephone to the man and ask him to come to court the next day, when she would be arraigned again.

With this assurance I left the girl—hoping to be able to save her from the reformatory, even though she would probably be a happier home for her than her present quarters. Presenting the facts to the judge after a visit to her address and a talk with the wretched old man who had said he would "do anything for her," did not even appear at the court as I had requested. To my telephone message he had responded that he "hadn't seen her for a month and didn't care if it was another month."

FOUND WORK FOR GIRL.

Once the girl was free I set myself to help her. And with all the experience I had had she nevertheless succeeded for a time in fooling me completely.

I tried to find work for her, but the most sympathetic people balked at that of the girl. She was unprepossessing in the extreme. She was able to throw a little charity in her way, which kept her and the old man from all want. It was a wonder either her parole before or during the last presented itself and I found work for her in a boarding house not far away.

She had not been in this position a month before the mistress of the house almost forgot to tell me that she went on: "That Minnie girl you got I mean. What do you think she's done?"

I could not guess.

"Why, the little minx has been systematically stealing things ever since she's been there," the woman seemed to think out of my lodgers' rooms, dresses, pieces of jewelry—even shoes, once or twice."

And Jack is big and blond and tanned,
And I, I bet him five my hand;
But I said no.

Bob hasn't any money to send,
Unless he borrows from a friend,
But when he took me riding far
Out in his father's racing car,
He stormed because I wasn't nice,
And stalled my motor once or twice
When I said no.

Fred crushed me in his arms one night,
And, when I struggled, held me tight,
And then he looked at me, and I
Felt suddenly and strangely shy,
And all my heart was his to take,
And all his life was mine to make—
And I said yes.

To Put On Flesh And Increase Weight

A Physician's Advice

Most thin people eat from four to six pounds of good solid, fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight one ounce. While on the other hand many of the plump, chunky folks eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It's all bosh to say that this is the nature of the individual. It isn't Nature's way at all.

Thin folks stay thin because their powers of assimilation are defective. They just absorb enough of the food they eat to maintain life and a semblance of health and strength—stuffing won't help them. A dozen meals a day won't make them gain a single "any there" pound. All the fat-producing elements of their food just stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste. What such people need is something that will prepare these fatty food elements so that their blood can absorb them and deposit them where about the body—something, too, that will multiply their red blood corpuscles and increase their blood carrying power.

For such a condition I always recommend eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is not, as some believe, a patented drug, but is a scientific combination of six of the most effective and powerful flesh-building elements known to chemistry. It is absolutely harmless, yet wonderfully effective, and a single tablet eaten with each meal often has the effect of increasing the weight of a thin man or woman from three to five pounds a week. Sargol is sold by good druggists everywhere on a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back.

A Bachelor's Diary

By MAX

EVERY woman of full figure, who wants to look considerably smaller without sacrificing her comfort, will be delighted with this new Nemo.

It does everything a corset can do to produce fashionable lines, while protecting the health of the wearer.

The extreme flatness at the back is due to the newly invented use of the elastic reducing gores, which, being placed at the sides of the corset (at the front and back) allow it to expand freely over protruding parts and then contract to the original size, thereby reducing the flesh gradually and comfortably. Ask your dressmaker or ultra-stylish lady friend about this corset.

Don't you see how this reduces? Figures may surface the gores are placed. Gores should come about to the middle of the hip measurement, for example, if the hip measurement is 36 inches, the gores should be placed 18 inches from the front and back of the corset.

And isn't THAT what you WANT?

4 Reasons for H-O

the only steam-cooked Oatmeal

1. The Steam-Cooked Flavor

The first thing your family will notice about H-O Oatmeal is its particularly fine flavor. Steam-cooking is the reason. By cooking H-O before it is rolled into flakes and doing it in sealed cookers no flavor is lost.

2. Its Quick Preparation

The steam-cooking of H-O lasts over two hours at a temperature away above boiling. This leaves little cooking for you to do—only 20 minutes. If you serve any other oatmeal you must cook it over two hours or else serve it underdone.

3. Its Easy Digestibility

Starch cooked through is splendid food. Starch partially cooked is indigestible. Oats are largely starch and need hours of cooking. H-O with 20 minutes on your stove is always fully digestible, due to the two hours of steam-cooking. Other oatmeals are usually served but partly cooked.

4. Its Low Cost

To cook H-O requires 1-7 the fuel that other oatmeal requires. H-O—much drier than others—packed in moisture-proof packages—sterilized at 400°—bulks up larger when cooked and costs less than one-half cent per dish.

VICTORY FOR L EMPLOYES IN WAGE DISPUTE

A general increase in wages on the Boston Elevated system, which will cost the road $1,500,000, was announced early today by James J. Storrow, James L. Richards and James R. Vahey, the arbitrators.

James L. Richards, who represented the Elevated on the board, assented from the findings, although in general in the award to make it unanimous, and declares he believes the increase of wages should be "conditional upon a plan of co-operation."

The men will receive the increase pay after five years' service, and gold awards are abolished. The straight fare will get extra for the agreement runs to May 1 next.

STRIKE COST $1,500,000.

According to the arbitrators, the four years paid for idle time has not rendered—that is, it cost—$1,500,000. This period of two years for work not reported, and a report covering one year only, but did continue up to a week or last year.

The strike on the 15 across concerning which has not been carefully considered by the board about 1,000 men, according to the arbitrators.

General William A. Bancroft, president, and in behalf of the Boston Elevated Railway Company.

"The board of Arbitration has given its decision, and we accept the same as we agreed to do. We entertain a kindly feeling toward our men while we believe that their interests are safe in the hands of the board, and with genuine friendliness."

The dissenting report of James L. Richards, the representative of the Elevated on the board of Arbitration, reads:

WORD FOR STOCKHOLDERS.

"While I have joined in the award in order that the same may be made unanimous, I think it proper to put on record the fact that I do not personally in accord with an the findings of the board, and in particular I desire to record my dissent from that portion which provides for an additional advance in wages.

"I believe that the public and the stockholders should have equal consideration with the employees, and that any such additional advance in wages as is provided for in the award should, under the conditions which exist, be paid only in part upon the adoption of some plan of co-operation which would give the employes an interest in the future prosperity of the business similar to that of the company.

"I likewise am not agree with that portion of the award which increases the wages of the motormen in which the Cambridge subway was built, or the ownership of the company."

It was announced by Mr. Vahey that the wage increase, which takes three years to become fully operative, will cost the Elevated no less than $1,500,000, or $500,000 for each of the three years. He further said that the final maximum rate of 32 cents an hour, taking effect May 1, 1915, will be the basis rate for the same work in the country.

"PORTHOUSE" FOR "L."

Referring to the increasing capitalization of the company, the report of the arbitrators shows that since 1907 the gross earnings of the "L" increased 94.6 per cent, while the capital investment jumped 217.46 per cent. The report says, further:

"This policy, if continued, is going to send the company into the poor house, and it is also going to render it impossible for the company to obtain each year the additional capital which it must have in order to support the transportation facilities needed by the people of this community.

"Today the stock of the company is selling below par, and under the provisions of law . . . that the capital stock must always equal the amount of bonded indebtedness, the company has the right to sell only $1,226,000 more bonds, and then, unless the stock rises again to par or above it will begin to lack funds."

Members of the Carmen's Union expressed Tremont Temple until an early hour today, awaiting news of the award. The announcement was received with cheers.

FAT BONUSES IN BACK PAY FOR THE EMPLOYES OF THE "L"

All diesel collectors in the third to the fifth year of their service will receive $3.92 each in back-pay, under the retroactive provisions of the finding decision. Those in the second year's service will receive $2.94. The allowance made for any act connected in this particular department is the more liberal in that those girl employed in the treasury department, as bookkeeper, a cash counter, collector or ticket counter, will be given a $4 back-pay bonus. Some of the girls failing to get their men co-workers have to be content with a $15.50 bonus.

The back-pay feature of the award also gives to the 5,500 blue and grey uniformed employes of the road individual bonuses ranging from $69.34 to $7.84, according to their classifications, one executive retiring in his place at $4,000 the total back-pay allowance which the company manager has to give its 9,450 employes in the numerous departments.

THIS IS THE DAY FOR PANAMA BOOKS

Certificates Mature Today and the Volumes Will Be Given Out to All Clippers.

This is the day the Panama certificates mature, and readers in a position present six of them and the small expense fee will be entitled to a copy of "Panama and the Canal in Picture and Prose," as previously announced in these columns.

Considering the large number of inquiries already received from those interested it is believed that there will be a great demand for these books, and readers are urged to present their certificates as early as possible. The present supply of books is thought to be sufficient to fill all demands under normal conditions, but the offer is so unusual and the books so attractive that some readers may be disappointed if they do not present their certificates at once.

Everybody who sees this wonderful book wants to find it difficult to describe such a volume in cold type, and utterly impossible to portray its beauties in any kind of an illustration, for its wealth of harmonious colorings cannot be reproduced. Its contents are unique in that they comprise a series of interesting stories about the Canal, the country, the people—everything that is worth while, how they employ their time in pleasure and work—and all of these glowing little studies are woven into one complete story, which is of intense interest to all.

The AMERICAN is constant of the educational benefits to be derived from this volume, which gives the completed history of the Canal, presenting both its purpose and promise, and for the benefit of readers, as heretofore announced, it has arranged for a great distribution, which begins today. Hereafter, until further notice, a Panama certificate will be printed daily. Six of these certificates already appeared in these columns and these will be exchanged for books when accompanied by the expense amount named therein.

Clip the certificates and present them any day until further notice.

The Lapointe Machine Tool Company will pay its quarterly dividend of 1¾% on Preferred Stock January 15, 1914.

LATEST STOCK MARKETS

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor

Stocks were lower in New York in the afternoon but most of the declines were fractional and included Canadian Pacific ¾, Southern Pacific ¾, Lehigh Valley ¾, American Can ¾, Texas Company ¾, Baltimore & Ohio ¾ and Union Pacific ¾. New Haven was off 1¼ and Reading 1. Among the gains were Missouri Pacific 1¼, Amalgamated ⅜ and Chesapeake & Ohio ⅜.

Gains in Boston included Elevated 3, Calumet & Arizona 1, Alloues 3½, North Butte ⅝, Mohawk 2 and Osceola 7. Among the losses were Boston & Maine ⅝, New Haven ⅝, United Fruit ⅝, American Telephone ⅝ and Granby ¼.

EARLY REACTION IN STOCKS.

When the New York market opened stocks ranged lower, but the reaction was not as great as general. Profit taking caused the declines, it was said. Reading was the weakest of the usual leaders, receding more than a point within a few minutes. Among issues to weaken fractionally during the start were Amalgamated, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, New York Central, Lehigh Valley, Erie, California Petroleum, American Telephone, Western Union, Texas Company and a large number of issues, including Canadian Pacific and Utah Copper, were higher at the start.

Americans had been irregular in London, where the majority of international were lower. But that market was firmer on the whole and showed an improvement in mines which have inclined downward of late. It was reported that the strike in South Africa was practically had collapsed. There was some disappointment because the final output of gold had not reduced its minimum discount rate again, but its weekly statement was good and there was a general satisfaction over the satisfactory conclusion of fortnightly settlements.

SOME STRONG SPECIALTIES.

A number of specialties were strong in New York in early trading, including American Locomotive, Virginia-Carolina Chemical and Baldwin Locomotive. The former sold at 35, a new high, and the latter advanced 2¾. Considering how freely stocks were offered, the market sustained pressure in a manner most pleasing to the bull element. Observers thought the rise had been sufficient to discount recent favorable impressions received from Washington—the most cogent reason for the recent advance. The cabinet interest had become so much smaller that it was believed that something of a reaction had become due. In the railroad list Missouri Pacific developed strength during the morning. Its rise was helped along by the understanding that the road had made arrangements to provide for the $23,000,000 of 5 per cent. notes which will mature upon June 1.

MORE INTERVENTION TALK.

One bear argument was that the situation between Europe and Mexico had again become critical and that armed intervention is near. It had little effect, however, and received little credence. The market was active during the first hour, transactions totalling nearly 154,000 shares. It had a better tone in the last half of the morning, although the list remained irregular. Among issues to advance were Northern Pacific, American Can, New York Central, Bethlehem Steel, Amalgamated and Erie. Reading continued weak, but Steel and Union Pacific had enough support to render them steady. Money quotations showed little change, the call rate during the morning being around 2¼ per cent. By midday most active issues were fractionally lower, the Western Union and Reading were off more than a point each. The average of declines was small, however.

ELEVATED SOON RECOVERED.

The Boston market opened firmer than New York and remained relatively stronger. By noontime a number of issues showed good gains. Alloues was up 2¾, Copper Range ⅞, Greene-Cananea ⅝, Lake 1¼, Mohawk 2 and Osceola 2. The only weak spot in the morning was Boston Elevated, which dropped a point because of the decision as to carmen's wages. Within a half hour it had 1¼ from its lowest prices and at midday ¼ as showing United Fruit also declined. There were fractional gains in New Haven was weak in the local market, while there was a better demand for copper issues here and trading in them had some breadth.

FINANCIAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

The London copper warrants market was firm this morning, spot and futures being up 10s. each by noon.

The Comptroller of the Currency has issued a call for the condition of national banks at the close of business on January 13. Bank Commissioner Thorndike has called for a statement of Massachusetts trust companies on the same date.

More buying of copper metal in Europe is reported at prices ranging from 14¼ to 14⅝ cents a pound for February and March delivery.

The Quincy Mining Company produced from 11,000,000 pounds of copper in 1913, against a normal yield of 20,000,000 and 21,000,000 pounds. The shrinkage was due mostly to the great strike in the Lake district.

For the week ended yesterday copper exports totalled 3,706 tons. For the first fifteen days of this year exports were 1,334 tons more than for the like period in 1913.

A report issued today by the Census Bureau at Washington shows that 3,969,259 bales of cotton seed were crushed and 296,934 bales of linters obtained up to December 31 from the crop of 1913, compared with 2,739,597 tons and 552,972 bales from the crop of 1912.

The automobile output in this country in 1913 was valued at $506,000,000, and the industry gave employment to about 100,000 men.

Harvester Trust Appeal Case Heard

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Protest against the ouster from Missouri was made by the International Harvester Trust in a brief filed in the Supreme Court of the United States today. It is argued by the combine that Missouri anti-trust law while providing severe penalties against combinations of producers make no provision for the punishment of combinations of consumers who get together to keep prices down. The brief was filed on appeal from Missouri and fined $25,000.

M'REYNOLDS TO AID WALSH ON B. & M. PLAN

All the way from Washington comes a pledge to Governor David I. Walsh of the "heartiest co-operation" of the Federal Department of Justice in the Governor's plan to "reorganize" the Boston & Maine Railroad system following the separation of the Boston & Maine and the New York, New Haven & Hartford.

Washington's word of encouragement to Governor Walsh comes direct from the Attorney General, James C. McReynolds.

The Attorney General says, first, that he was delighted by the calmness of the Governor in his inaugural reference to the railroad situation in Massachusetts and Northern New England.

"I am delighted," Mr. McReynolds writes, "by the calm but forceful and energetic way in which you have brought the situation to the attention of the public."

Hon. John F. Meaney, secretary to His Excellency, today gave out a copy of the Attorney General's letter to the governor. Judge Meaney made the McReynolds letter public without comment. It was plain, however, that the Governor's secretary, who is also his adviser and close personal friend, was pleased by the cheerful tone of the Attorney General's epistle. The McReynolds letter reads as follows:

The Attorney General, Washington.
January 15, 1914.

His Excellency, The Honorable David I. Walsh, Governor of Massachusetts:

My Dear Governor:

I thank you very sincerely for your letter enclosing a copy of your inaugural message to the Legislature, which I have read with great interest.

Naturally the part concerning the railroads was of the most moment to me, and I am delighted by the calm but forceful and energetic way in which you have called the situation to the attention of the public. You may be very sure of the heartiest co-operation of this department to bring about the ends which you so earnestly advocate.

With assurances of high regard, believe me, sincerely yours,

(Signed) J. C. McREYNOLDS.

Governor Walsh, in his inaugural address last week, called for the divorce of the Boston & Maine Railroad from the New Haven and a reorganization of the former property. In powerful language the Governor declared the present conditions to be the result of a "decade of uselessness and mismanagement." He hinted strongly at the possibility of State ownership.

The Governor in his message to the Legislature declared that the Boston & Maine could not expect an increase in freight rates until it showed the ability to better handle increased, revenue. He denounced the "wasteful and parasitic contracts" with the American Express Company and the Pullman Company which he says, were "obtained under circumstances which suggest a legal fraud."

Why We Are to Have Better Times in a Few Months

Oscar Underwood is thoroughly justified in resenting the dolorous preachments of hard times which Republican politicians are expressing for partisan purposes only.

The professional spell-binders among the Republicans are predicting bad times because they hope the discontent of the country will restore their party to power in the congressional elections this year.

The Democrats, and particularly Mr. Underwood and President Wilson, who are responsible for the new tariff, are fervently hoping for good times, and signs are multiplying that the President intends to do all in his power to hasten good times for the purely selfish but perfectly natural and even laudable reason that if the heavy shadows upon the business interests of the country are not soon dissipated, he will lose the House of Representatives and the solidarity of his support in the Senate will be gone forever.

The tariff law, of which Mr. Underwood is the author, has done nothing to advance this very apparent commercial awakening. That chance was missed when its author failed to exact from foreign nations some fair equivalent in exchange for the markets we opened to them. But barren as the law is as an aid to business or as lessening the cost of living, it is becoming apparent that business is becoming adjusted to it.

The currency law, which during the long period of its debate in Congress was a depressing influence in the business world, is being accepted in good faith by the business community. The opposition to it in the days of its construction has disappeared in the moment of its completion. From every city comes the news that the banks at their annual meetings are voting to enter the national system under the new law. There is no continuance of the early agitation against it, and even its critics admit that it is superior to the old law so productive of credit panics in the past fifty years.

The tariff and the currency, the two disturbing and depressing influences of the year past, are therefore out of discussion, out of agitation, and business men knowing their ground can press their enterprises accordingly.

This situation has already perceptibly improved the business outlook. A multitude of incidents, none great in itself, but in combination convincing, have contributed to this situation.

The railroads are encouraged by the attitude of the Interstate Commerce Commission in hastening the hearings upon their application for an increase of freight rates.

The utterances of men prominent in the financial world are becoming optimistic. In New York James S. Alexander, president of the National Bank of Commerce, said:

> "I am not expecting hard times or a long period of business depression, but am conservatively optimistic, believing there is being created a more substantial basis than previously existed for a large and stable development of our commerce and industries."

From Chicago was telegraphed this expression by D. R. Forgan, one of the leading bankers of that city:

> "Money is easier and things in general are looking better since the coming of the new year. There are some good principles embodied in the currency bill. The greater elasticity of the currency is bound to prove a positive benefit and safeguard."

Much more important is the fact that the President has become convinced of the necessity for an Industrial Trade Commission, and will send a special message to Congress on the subject in a few days. He rejected the idea in his campaign speeches in 1912, but fifteen months' experience has convinced him that government control of trusts according to the doctrine of the Supreme Court's "rule of reason" means in the final result government by corporation lawyers, and not government by the people.

Sir—During the year ended December 31, 1912, there were 51 lynchings in the United States. At the same period a year ago, 61 lynchings had occurred—a decrease of 15 for the short year. This is the smallest number in any year since these grim records have been kept.

HOW TO MAKE THE BOY A BETTER ASSET TO THE COMMUNITY

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

Dear Sir—What shall we do to make the boy a better asset to the community? I, from experience, have found that self-rule is the form of self-government that worked wonders in making the boy self-dependent, responsible. Responsibility keeps his mind to the will of doing something. He learns, and as he learns he broadens out.

There is good in even the worst of boys. He doesn't want to be driven, but he is willing to be led. The temper and mood of the leader is an essential factor. If you lack sincerity you are lost with the boy, for he is quick to perceive and find out.

What the boy wants is love and encouragement. A leader in touch with his needs and his aspirations, and then as you build for that manhood you are building for character and honor, the standard of which is best exemplified in manhood.

Helping the boy to beat knows himself, will bring him in touch with that which builds for citizenship.

RESPECT FOR THE U. S. SAILOR

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

Sir—Recently an ex-soldier was arrested for something which had no connection with the enlisted men of the United States Navy, but a judge in Concordia in sentencing the man made the following statement: "The army and navy is a ruinous lure to young men."

There are now over 60,000 men in the navy, and the majority of them are well thought of by friends; they come from the best of homes and their parents are of the finest people; in fact one wouldn't wish to meet a better class of men than are in the United States Navy.

When a statement such as this judge makes is read by the thousands of people in civilian life, it certainly does not tend to have a good effect on the better class of men in the navy. Such words tend to keep hundreds of good men out of the navy.

"I SEEN her when she done it," said the girlie on the train,
"I seen her when she done it and she done it just as plain!
She never had no bringing up; she acts just like a fool;
I haven't saw such manners since I was a kid at school.
Just between you and I, my dear, her education's bad;
She doesn't speak grammatical. Her English makes me sad."

"I've often saw the lady," said her escort on the train,
"And all them fool mistakes she makes would give a guy a pain.
It's just as easy to talk right, like fellows in a book,
And that's why I remember all the lessons I have took.
You'd think she'd be more careful of grammatical mistakes.
Why don't she talk like I and you, and not make all them breaks?"

The Henpecked Bachelor Girl—A Scolding, Nagging Mother Is Greatest Handicap Her Daughter Can Have—Girls Should Be Given Some Liberties

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

Copyright, 1914, by the Star Company

"WHAT not write about the henpecked bachelor girl?

"The girl who is trying to make a home for her mother, who is alone in the world.

"The girl who cannot go home without expecting to be nagged and scolded about something.

"The girl who cannot have a beau—mother objects.

"The girl who cannot have company—mothers objects to most of her acquaintances.

"The girl who cannot be out one night a week, but what she is out every night.

"The girl who is not bad—and it is a wonder that she isn't—but on account of her home surroundings she stays away from home at night as long as she can; she prefers home to being forced out into company for which she cares little.

"The girl who would much rather have her mother her 'Pal' than to choose one from among her girl friends.

"The girl who works hard all day, having worries a mother knows nothing of, nor could understand if she did know, same as a man; but who, when she gets home, is nagged and tagged, found fault with, scolded, in fact, made miserable the minute she gets inside the door.

"Talk about a henpecked husband—is the condition of the henpecked bachelor girl any better?

"Through it all she is trying to keep herself clean and wholesome. But will she succeed?

"She can't go to the club the same as a man; if she goes out she lays herself liable to criticism. She can't get a divorce nor leave home, run away; She is too honorable for that. Isn't the condition awful? What will the end be? Think it over, my friend, and see if the subject does not deserve an article from your hand, which may possibly come under the observation of some of these girls. Mothers who do not realize what they are doing and in what danger they are placing their daughters, for a mother would not deliberately send her girl to the bad—she just does not think—that is all, and possibly you can help her think. There are doubtless many girls in the same plight as myself, and a word from an outside disinterested person might help out matters a whole lot."

It is quite complete as it is, and really needs no comments.

But much more can be said on the subject of unwise mothers.

The really wise, the really unselfish, the really tender and big brained and hearted mother, is an unusual being to encounter.

There are mothers who love to slave for their children.

They love to wait upon them, to deny themselves necessities, to suffer for them. This mother is usually called a good, devoted mother, but she rears a brood of selfish, inconsiderate children, who make bad wives and husbands. And, of course, they are ungrateful and unsatisfactory sons and daughters, because only their most selfish instincts have been catered to.

There is the mother who loves her children so devotedly that she is jealous of all their friends, and later is jealous of their wives and husbands, and destroys their happiness by being the proverbial mother-in-law.

There is the disorderly mother, who neglects to teach her children the foundation of all the other virtues, Order, Heaven's first law.

Confusion and disorder reign in the home of such a mother and in the minds of those she brings up. The time spent in hunting for lost objects in such a home would make one conversant with all languages, if spent in study.

There is the other type of mother, so orderly that no comfort is found in her presence.

When she is not picking up after her family or correcting the members of her household for their disorder, she is lying in a darkened room with a nervous headache, which, she says, is caused by her inconsiderate family.

Then there is the nagging mother, so well described by the letter given above.

A type, not a mere individual case.

A numerous type.

Mothers of small children are frequently tender, devoted, unselfish and ideal, but the mother of children who grow up and develop a distinct individuality, and who know how to deal with these distinct individualities, are rare indeed.

The mother who sees her own features reflected in a small daughter is oftimes amazed when she sees that daughter growing into a type of woman wholly unlike herself; a woman with different tastes, ideas and temperament.

She does not know what to do with her; how to adapt herself to the situation.

It is seldom she is broad enough to realize that her child must be dealt with according to her own nature and tendencies and not according to the mother's.

Just as a fern in a garden requires different treatment and a different location from a carnation or rose.

Mothers should study their children as the horticulturist studies plants, and help each child to grow according to its own tendencies.

It may be repeated as a final clause what has been said many, many times before in this column: The greatest need in the world today is a school for good, wise parentage.

Baron Parmenter and the Potato

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

WHO would believe that not much more than a hundred years ago potatoes were almost unknown as food for man. People disdainfully fed them to hogs. Even so wise and inquiring a man as Benjamin Franklin had to be convinced by a freak dinner that the potato was not only eatable, but delicious and nourishing.

The dinner was given to Franklin and to the famous chemist Lavoisier by Antoine Augustin Parmentier, the anniversary of whose death has recently been celebrated in France because he was the discoverer of the enormous possibilities of the potato as an addition to the food supply of the world.

Parmentier was an enthusiast. He began life as an army pharmacist, and found out, first by necessity and then by experiment, that the potato when properly cooked, was one of the most excellent of all vegetables. Few, however, would believe him. He interested Lavoisier and Franklin by showing them the results of his chemical analysis of the despised tubercle, and they consented to try the test of it at his table.

The meal consisted entirely of potatoes. It began with a potato soup which the guests found excellent, was continued with dishes composed of potatoes, roasted and fried potatoes, and ended with potato dessert and a glass of potato brandy. Even the bread served at the table was made of potatoes.

Parmentier succeeded in getting the King, Louis XVI., whose sympathy for the poor did not save him when the revolutionists began to cut off heads, interested in his new, cheap food, and the King gave him a large patch of ground in the plain of Sablons, near Paris, on which to raise potatoes.

To introduce them to public notice they were served at the royal table. They became the rage when, in August, 1786, the King appeared at court wearing a potato blossom in his buttonhole, while the Queen, the proud Marie Antoinette, had a whole bouquet of them in her corsage.

After the revolution, when Napoleon took hold of France and her destinies, he saw the immeasurable value of Parmentier's discovery, encouraged him in every way, and made him a baron.

In the meantime the rest of the world was learning to eat potatoes. Their popularity grew fast. Their culture spread everywhere. Man had found a new food that was to become as indispensable to his welfare as wheat and corn.

Not many years were to elapse before the failure of the potato crop in Ireland was to plunge that devoted island into a famine that awoke the sympathies of the whole world, and that was to a large extent relieved by the rushing from America of a supply ship, one of the most important parts of whose cargo consisted of potatoes.

Parmentier is honored as the man who gave the potato to his fellowmen for food, and the honor is justly bestowed. But it would be a mistake to suppose that nobody had attempted to eat potatoes before him. Others had tried it, but their use was very limited, and the possibilities that lay in them through development of the art of cooking them were entirely unknown.

Such is the romance of Baron Parmentier and the potato. It is almost the only thing of its kind; the only instance in which a man has won lasting fame by making himself the champion of a new form of food.
